focuses upon two central and interrelated subjects the rural economy and the land question from the perspective of Cork Ireland's southernmost country The author examines the chief responses of Cork landlords tenant farmers and labourers to also rejects the conventional view of the land war of the 1880s arguing that in Cork it was essentially a revolution of rising expectations in which tenant farmers struggled to preserve their substantial material gains since 1850 by using the weapons of agrarian trade unionism civil disobedience and unprecedented violence This title will be of interest to students of rural
