Library and Information Sciences Chuanfu Chen, Ronald Larsen, 2014-09-30 This book explores the development, trends, and research of library and information sciences (LIS) in the digital age. Inside, readers will find research and case studies written by LIS experts, educators, and theorists, most of whom have visited China, delivered presentations there, and drafted their articles based on feedback they received. As a result, readers will discover the LIS issues and concerns that China and the international community have in common. The book first introduces the opportunities and challenges faced by the library and information literacy profession and discusses the key role of librarians in the future of information literacy education. Next, it covers trends in LIS education by examining the vision of the iSchool movement and detailing its practice in Syracuse University. The book then covers issues in information seeking and retrieval by showing how visual data mining technology can be used to detect the relationship and pattern between terms on the Q & A of a social media site. It also includes a case study regarding tracing information seeking behavior and usage on a multimedia website. Next, the book stresses the importance of building an academic accreditation framework for scientific datasets, explores the relationship between bibliometrics and university rankings, and details the birth and development of East Asian Libraries in North America. Macroprudential Banking Supervision & Monetary Policy Luca Amorello, 2018-08-27 The European experience suggests that the efforts made to achieve an efficient trade off between monetary policy and prudential supervision ultimately failed The severity of the global crisis have pushed central banks to explore innovative tools within or beyond their statutory constraints capable of restoring the smooth functioning of the financial cycle including setting macroprudential policy instruments in the regulatory toolkit But macroprudential and monetary policies by sharing multiple transmission channels may interact and conflict with each other Such conflicts may represent not only an economic challenge in the pursuit of price and financial stability but also a legal uncertainty characterizing the regulatory developments of the EU macroprudential and monetary frameworks In analyzing the legal interaction between the two frameworks in the EU this book seeks to provide evidence of the inconsistencies associated with the structural separation of macroprudential and monetary frameworks shedding light upon the legal instruments that could reconcile any potential policy inconsistency

Advances in Neuromodulation Treatment of Parkinson's Disease and Aging-Related Movement Disorders Kailiang Wang, Fangang Meng, Yuqing Zhang, Adolfo Ramirez-Zamora, Shin-Yuan Chen, 2024-04-22 Parkinson's disease PD is an age related neurodegenerative disorder characterized by progressive motor disability with a spectrum of non motor symptoms Similar to Parkinson's disease essential tremor dystonia Huntington's disease and other aging related movement disorders are widespread in the elderly with relatively unideal medicine treatment effects In recent years deep brain stimulation DBS has been established as an effective treatment for PD and other aging related movement disorders especially with motor symptoms However there are still many problems to be solved in research work and clinical practice in this field For example it is unclear regarding the most effective stimulation targets or the underlying mechanism of DBS And it is still unknown how to choose the optimal targets among STN GPi PSA VIM etc or if we could choose the nerve fiber for stimulation besides the nuclei And despite wearable sensors could be a powerful tool for the digital evaluation of movement disorders or provide the feedback biomarkers for DBS the closed loop biomarkers for DBS are still lacking Furthermore apart from PD the DBS treatment in gene related dystonia Huntington's disease and other movement disorders also needs to be further explored

Malpractice and Medical Liability Santo Davide Ferrara, Rafael Boscolo-Berto, Guido Viel, 2013-04-11 Medical responsibility lawsuits have become a fact of life in every physician's medical practice However there is evidence that physicians are increasingly practising defensive medicine ordering more tests than may be necessary and avoiding patients with complicated conditions The modern practice of medicine is increasingly complicated by factors beyond the traditional realm of patient care including novel technologies loss of physician autonomy and economic pressures A continuing and significant issue affecting physicians and the healthcare system is malpractice In the latter half of the 20th century there was a major change in the attitude of the public towards the medical profession People were made aware of the huge advances in medical technology because health problems increasingly tended to attract media interest and wide publicity Medicine is a victim of its own success in this respect and people are now led to expect the latest techniques and perfect outcomes on all occasions This burst of technology and hyper specialization in many fields of medicine means that each malpractice claim is transformed into a scientific challenge requiring specific preparation in analysis and judgment of the clinical case in question The role of legal medicine becomes more and more peculiar in this judicial setting often giving rise to erroneous interpretations and hasty scientific verdicts but guidelines on the methodology of ascertainties and criteria of evaluation are lacking all over the world The aim of this volume is to clarify the steps required for sequential in depth analysis of events and consequences of medical actions in order to verify whether in the presence of damage errors or non observance of rules of conduct by health personnel exist and which causal values and links of their hypothetical misconduct are involved
