Bernoulli's Principle

What is Bernoulli's Principle?

Bernoulli's principle helps explain how an aircraft can fly by using the forces of lift, drag, thrust, and weight. The shape of the wing is designed so that air flows faster over the top surface than the bottom surface. This causes a difference in air pressure, with higher pressure on the bottom and lower pressure on the top. The difference in pressure creates an upward force called lift.

The bottom of the wing is generally flat, which causes the air to move faster over the top surface. The faster moving air has less pressure, while the slower moving air has more pressure. This difference in pressure creates an upward force called lift.

For every object in the universe, there is an equal and opposite reaction. The faster the air moves over the top of the wing, the faster it moves under the bottom. This creates a difference in pressure, which creates lift.

Assessment Answer the questions below using evidence from the text.

1. How does a wing's shape affect lift?

2. How does air pressure affect lift?

Reading Read what you were learning about lift and write a paragraph explaining it.
