

Frankenstein Discussion Questions: Set 1

Letter 1 - Chapter 5

1. What type of person is Captain Walton? What motivates him to pursue his dangerous endeavor?
 - Captain Walton is, at a very early stage, motivated. Later the character Victor calls to him: "ambition, Walton! that is your sin" (p. 30). In other words, your ambition is your downfall.
2. What is Walton's impression of his crew member, Victor Frankenstein?
 - Walton's impression of Victor is mixed. Victor is "ambitious, and a young man, and friendly, generous, and interesting." The negative impression Walton has of Victor is that he has "visions, not often far removed from the edge and horror of the sublime, [and] [a]s if he felt that his dream, which is the ambition to create life, is too great for him to handle."
3. What is Victor's idea of a "great" man in the literary sense of the word "ambition"? What advice does Walton give him?
 - Victor's ambition is to create a new race of men, a new race of beings, which will be the greatest of all. Walton's advice is to "be content with the world as it is, and not to try to create a new one." Victor's response is to "be content with the world as it is, and not to try to create a new one."
4. Why do you think young Victor is not interested in creating the perfect man?
 - Victor is not interested in creating the perfect man because he is not interested in the world as it is. He is not interested in the world as it is, and he is not interested in the world as it is.
5. Why does Dr. Frankenstein's work on the creature change his life completely?
 - Dr. Frankenstein's work on the creature changes his life completely because he is not interested in the world as it is. He is not interested in the world as it is, and he is not interested in the world as it is.
6. How would Dr. Frankenstein handle the creature differently?
 - Dr. Frankenstein would handle the creature differently by treating him as a human being, and not as a monster. He would treat him as a human being, and not as a monster.
