Productivity in Higher Education Caroline M. Hoxby, Kevin Stange, 2020-01-10 How do the benefits of higher education compare with its costs and how does this comparison vary across individuals and institutions These questions are fundamental to quantifying the productivity of the education sector The studies in Productivity in Higher Education use rich and novel administrative data modern econometric methods and careful institutional analysis to explore productivity issues The authors examine the returns to undergraduate education differences in costs by major the productivity of for profit schools the productivity of various types of faculty and of outcomes the effects of online education on the higher education market and the ways in which the productivity of different institutions responds to market forces The analyses recognize five key challenges to assessing productivity in higher education the potential for multiple student outcomes in terms of skills earnings invention and employment the fact that colleges and universities are multiproduct firms that conduct varied activities across many domains the fact that students select which school to attend based in part on their aptitude the difficulty of attributing outcomes to individual institutions when students attend more than one and the possibility that some of the benefits of higher education may arise from the system as a whole rather than from a single institution The findings and the approaches illustrated can facilitate decision making processes in higher education      Economic Theory and its History Giuseppe Freni, Heinz D. Kurz, Andrea Mario Lavezzi, Rodolfo Signorino, 2016-01-29 This collection brings together leading economists from around the world to explore key issues in economic analysis and the history of economic thought This book deals with important themes in economics in terms of an approach that has its roots in the works of the classical economists from Adam Smith to David Ricardo The chapters have been inspired by the work of Neri Salvadori who has made key contributions in various areas including the theory of production the theory of value and distribution the theory of economic growth as well as the theory of renewable and deplorable natural resources The main themes in this book include production value and distribution endogenous economic growth renewable and exhaustible natural resources capital and profits oligopolistic competition effective demand and capacity utilization financial regulation and themes in the history of economic analysis Several of the contributions are closely related to the works of Neri Salvadori This is demonstrated with respect to important contemporary topics including the sources of economic growth the role of exhaustible resources in economic development the reduction and disposal of waste the redistribution of income and wealth and the regulation of an inherently unstable financial sector All contributions are brand new original and concise written by leading exponents in their field of expertise Together this volume represents an invaluable contribution to economic analysis and the history of economic thought This book is suitable for those who study economic theory and its history political economy as well as philosophy

Demographic Change in Uruguay Rafael Rofman, Verónica Amarante, Ignacio Apella, 2016-06-10 The population of Uruguay is undergoing a slow but sustained aging process driven by the demographic transition that started early in the twentieth century While this reflects significant improvements in mortality and fertility trends it also creates important challenges for the fiscal sustainability of some social policies and the economic trends in the medium and long term Uruguay is currently going through the demographic bond stage of this process as the proportion of the population aged between 15 and 65 years old is peaking This temporary situation creates the possibility of increasing the endowment of capital and labor force and entering a path of sustained economic growth For this to happen it is necessary to generate institutional financial and fiscal conditions that promote larger savings and investment to increase the productivity of the economy and sustain per capita GDP growth This book studies the opportunities and challenges that the demographic transition poses for Uruguay's economy Once the demographic bond has passed population aging will have a significant impact on fiscal accounts especially in social protection expenditures This represents a serious policy challenge demanding reforms to adapt the institutions and systems to a new demographic context The main challenge for Uruguay in the next few decades will be to maintain a solid economic growth path in the context of a diminishing working age population This will require that labor force participation rates increase particularly among women and older citizens but also that those in the labor market increase their productivity This will be achieved only through sustained growth of capital per worker ratio and the incorporation of innovations and technological developments that facilitate increased production of goods and services for the entire population

Chinese Students in UK Further Education Rosemary A. Reynolds, 2017-12-15 Chinese students in the UK have been increasing in number for many years yet competition from other Western educators and increasing investment in China's own education system has led to concern that UK institutions may soon see a decline in their market share Dr Reynolds addresses this issue in Chinese Students in UK Further Education by attempting to understand students' experiences from their perspective Beginning with an exploration of why these students choose to come and study in the UK and why they are coming at younger ages the book goes on to discuss topics such as risk technology and diversity in order to understand which factors have the greatest influence on where they choose to study and whether they choose to remain at an institution Drawing on data from two different education institutions providers of GCSE A level programmes for students aged 16-18 years Dr Reynolds attempts to understand what these students experience during their studies how they manage new social relationships and whether upon course completion they achieved the results they desired at the outset Moreover the book aims to ascertain whether the students feel in hindsight that the decision to risk investing in UK further education was right and what they might communicate about UK study to contacts in China and elsewhere The book examines what further education institutions do well and where they might improve to help develop Chinese students' educational experiences As such it will be essential reading for academics researchers and postgraduates in the fields of further education sociology of education international and intercultural education and mobility studies

Poverty, Prosperity, and Planet Report 2024 World Bank, 2024-10-15 The Poverty Prosperity and Planet Report 2024 is the latest edition of the series formerly known as Poverty and Shared Prosperity The report emphasizes that reducing poverty and increasing shared prosperity must be achieved in ways that do not come at unacceptably high costs to the environment The current polycrisis where the multiple crises of slow economic growth increased fragility climate risks and heightened uncertainty have come together at the same time makes national development strategies and international cooperation difficult Offering the first post Coronavirus COVID 19 pandemic assessment of global progress on this interlinked agenda the report finds that global poverty reduction has resumed but at a pace slower than before the COVID 19 crisis Nearly 700 million people worldwide live in extreme poverty with less than US$ 2.15 per person per day Progress has essentially plateaued amid lower economic growth and the impacts of COVID 19 and other crises Today extreme poverty is concentrated mostly in Sub-Saharan Africa and fragile settings At a higher standard more typical of upper middle income countries US$ 6.85 per person per day almost one half of the world is living in poverty The report also provides evidence that the number of countries that have high levels of income inequality has declined considerably during the past two decades but the pace of improvements in shared prosperity has slowed and that inequality remains high in Latin America and the Caribbean and Sub Saharan Africa Worldwide people's incomes today would need to increase fivefold on average to reach a minimum prosperity threshold of US 25 per person per day Where there has been progress in poverty reduction and shared prosperity there is evidence of an increasing ability of countries to manage natural hazards but climate risks are significantly higher in the poorest settings Nearly one in five people globally is at risk of experiencing welfare losses due to an extreme weather event from which they will struggle to recover The interconnected issues of climate change and poverty call for a united and inclusive effort from the global community Development cooperation stakeholders from governments nongovernmental organizations and the private sector to communities and citizens acting locally in every corner of the globe hold pivotal roles in promoting fair and sustainable transitions By emphasizing strategies that yield multiple benefits and diligently monitoring and addressing trade offs we can strive toward a future that is prosperous equitable and resilient

Innovation in China William H.A. Johnson, 2015-07-22 The word innovation is often used today regarding China as if the concept were new to the Eastern country Most people know however that China was a juggernaut in creating new technologies and at one time was the innovation king of the world but that was at least seven centuries ago Today the great oriental power is attempting once again to take the throne of innovation for its own This desire to usurp the throne which had been diligently taken by the West during the Scientific Revolution has placed an almost unrealistic emphasis on innovation In Innovation in China The Tail of the Dragon the author explores the issues and actors involved in making innovation the emphasis in China He uses a simple systems model of innovation and various perceptual lenses The lenses are aimed at the historical economic political legal educational and cultural elements of an innovation based society After reading the book the reader will understand more about how innovation is happening in China and by whom More importantly the reader will begin a journey of learning more about where the country is going as it relentlessly continues its drive to create an innovation based society and to become once again in terms appropriate to its history the Emperor of Innovation     Enterprise and Economic Development in Africa Dina M.
