High-Pressure Oil Flow

The lubrication system supplies the oil reservoir located in the front cover. The reservoir provides oil for the high-pressure oil pump. The pump is mounted on the backside of the front cover and is gear driven by the upper idle gear.

High-pressure oil is directed to the high-pressure oil flow, cylinder head passages, and high-pressure oil manifold.

High-pressure oil is used by the fuel injectors to pressurize and meter fuel in the cylinders. The amount when the CPDs call for each fuel injector is energized.

Excess high-pressure oil is directed to the oilpancase pump by the Injection Pressure Regulator (IPR) valve. The IPR valve is controlled by the Electronic Control Module (ECM) to maintain a desired injection control pressure.

If equipped with the optional engine brake, some high-pressure oil is directed internally to the engine brake pistons when the engine compressor brake is activated. Since these two systems share a common pump, a problem with the engine compressor brake system can adversely affect injection control pressure and vice versa.

ICP Closed Loop System

The ICP Injection Control Pressure system is a closed loop system that uses the ICP sensor to continuously provide feedback to the ECM. The ECM commands the IPR duty cycle to adjust pressure to match engine requirements.
