My Internship Experience in Buildings Field

Introduction

This internship has allowed me to learn how I act and perform in an environment that receives many different inputs that can lead to unexpected outcomes. As an intern, I acted as an assistant to the project superintendent for most of my internship. I often did repetitive tasks, such as sweeping the roads and office trailer. However, I also was able to demonstrate my potential as I was put into more important positions, such as watching over the construction site while the superintendent was gone.

Internship Search and Acquisition Process

I began my search for an internship like most at the career fair. For me, the career fair was a learning experience as I did not receive any internship offers. The only preparation I did for the career fair consisted of briefly looking over a few of the companies' websites. This is the greatest reason I did not receive any interview offerings from the career fair. Everything I learned the night before had been forgotten with the nervousness caused by the career fair. This failure lit a fire inside of me. I did not want to postpone my internship by a semester, so I started searching online. I found a company that constructed some of the buildings of Texas A&M's campus, so I decided to contact the company through a telephone call to see if internships were being accepted. Through this conversation, we selected a date for the interview. The interview was conducted by the Vice President of the company and I received the internship.

Orientation Process

My internship orientation began with watching safety videos in the safety director's office. The videos reviewed a few of the topics covered in COSC 364 – Construction Safety. During the safety videos, the safety director was informed that he needed to teach to a group of the company's workers of the measures that are to be taken when working around bat guano. I attended the meeting and continued watching the videos after the meeting was adjourned. After the safety videos, I received a hardhat and a safety vest that displayed the company's logo on them. The rest of my day consisted of shadowing the vice president of the company. We visited three construction sites. The last construction site is where I would spend most of my internship. The drive back from the internship was important as I interviewed the vice president of the company. I asked him questions regarding the internship as well as questions regarding personal career advice.

Communications Skill Enhancement

When I began my internship, I had a light anxiety when talking to people such as the subcontractors and owners. As my internship progressed, I achieved a greater knowledge of the project and became more confident when speaking to these individuals. The greatest lesson I learned regarding communication skills is that knowledge of a subject strengthens communication skills. Knowledge of the Meeting the Challenge Ellen Rose, 1999-03-16 This collection demonstrates how feminist pedagogy can be implemented in a variety of institutional and disciplinary settings Unlike most of the current literature it provides a vast array of examples of feminist pedagogy in action It suggests practical ways of creating classroom environments open to feminist and anti racist teaching way feminists at universities can intervene in community programs and how to apply feminist pedagogy to new challenges such as distance education cyberspace fiscal constraints and the changing political climate Meeting the Challenge also looks to other nations for examples of how to successfully implement feminist pedagogy Learning at the Crossroads of Theory and Practice Piet Van den Bossche, Wim H. Gijssels, Richard G. Milter, 2012-03-21 Core concepts in education are changing For example professional performance or expertise is not uniquely the fruit of specialist knowledge acquired at professional schools but the sum of influences exerted by a complex web of continuous learning opportunities for which an individual is well or ill prepared by their schools and their workplace The key contributory factors to professional expertise are how professional schools connect to professional practice how schools prepare graduates for continuous learning and how the workplace endorses continuous development Thus the question this volume addresses how to design learning and working environments that facilitate the integration of these three elements is at the heart of contemporary pedagogical theory The authors also ask a second vital question how do we educate learners that go on to maximize their life s learning opportunities by regulating their own ongoing learning Learning at the Crossroads of Theory and Practice argues that with the theory of learning at a crossroads this is an unprecedented opportunity for learning about learning The book sheds light on different elements of this challenge integrating theory and practice in business education generating and fully exploiting workplace learning opportunities and enriching our classrooms by coupling theoretical knowledge with the richness of real life experience
