around the world Food Regulation and Criminal Justice Nieto Martín, Ligeia Quackelbeen, Michele Simonato, 2017-06-09 This issue is the first milestone on the way to the XXth AIDP World Congress dedicated to Criminal Justice and Corporate Business. It brings together key proceedings of the International Colloquium on Food Regulation and Criminal Justice organised by the Chinese group of the AIPD in Beijing on September 23rd-26th 2016. The volume contains the resolutions adopted in Beijing, the general report, four transversal articles and several national reports. It offers a broad overview of the main challenges raised by contemporary food regulation as well as various responses provided by criminal law around the globe. The contributions deal with issues concerning food security, food safety and food fraud. They pay particular attention to the international dimension, the interaction with administrative enforcement mechanisms and the increasing relevance of self-regulation.

Foundations of EU Food Law and Policy Alberto Alemanno, Simone Gabbi, 2016-04-15 This volume presents the viewpoints of academics, food lawyers, industry and consumer representatives as well as those of EU policymakers on the first ten years of activity of one of the most prominent European agencies. Its broader purpose, however, is to discuss the future role played by EFSA within the rapidly evolving area of EU food law and policy. By revisiting and discussing the milestones in the history of EFSA, the collection provides forward-looking views of food leaders and practitioners on the future scientific and regulatory challenges facing the European Union. In particular, by presenting a critical assessment of the agency's activities within its different areas of work, the book offers readers a set of innovative tools for evaluating policy recommendations and better equips experts and the public to address pressing regulatory issues in this emotive area of law and policy. Despite its celebratory mood, the book's focus is more about the future than the past of EU food law and policy. Each chapter discusses how EFSA's role has evolved and identifies what it should have done differently while presenting an overall assessment of how the agency has discharged its mandate.

Ensuring Safe Foods and Medical Products Through Stronger Regulatory Systems Abroad Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Sciences Policy, Board on Global Health, Committee on Strengthening Core Elements of Food and Drug Regulatory Systems in Developing Countries, 2012-09-03 A very high portion of the seafood we eat comes from abroad, mainly from China and Southeast Asia, and most of the active ingredients in medicines we take originate in other countries. Many low- and middle-income countries have lower labor costs and fewer and less stringent environmental regulations than the United States, making them attractive places to produce food and chemical ingredients for export. Safe Foods and Medical Products Through Stronger Regulatory Systems Abroad explains that the diversity and scale of imports makes it impractical for U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) border inspections to be sufficient to ensure product purity and safety, and incidents such as American deaths due to adulterated heparin imported from China propelled the problem into public awareness. The Institute of Medicine Committee on Strengthening Core Elements of Regulatory Systems in Developing Countries took up the vital task of helping the FDA to cope with the reality that so much of the food, drugs, biologics and medical products consumed in the United States originate in countries with less robust regulatory systems Ensuring Safe Foods and Medical Products Through Stronger Regulatory Systems Abroad describes the ways the United States can help strengthen regulatory systems in low and middle income countries and promote cross border partnerships including government industry and academia to foster regulatory science and build a core of regulatory professionals This report also emphasizes an array of practical approaches to ensure sound regulatory practices in today s interconnected world Global Food Security and Wellness Gustavo V.
