Muffin Heaven English Edition:

Opening Heaven's Door Patricia Pearson, 2015-05-19 Nearing Death Awareness is a phenomenon rarely discussed by those who have experienced it and often dismissed by our culture because it defies science or logic Yet roughly half of bereaved people as well as nurses and others who constantly observe the dying have stories of coincidental visions at the exact moment of a loved one's death comforting visits from a departed friend in an hour of need and observations of the uncanny precision with which the dying predict their own deaths even when they appear to the trained eye to be on the brink of recovery These surprisingly common occurrences point toward a larger spiritual reality and the reality of life or something else after death They also have the power to console and comfort us and to transform our understanding of mortality Prompted by her own family's experiences surrounding the deaths of her father and sister journalist Patricia Pearson examines the scientific and anecdotal evidence to challenge current assumptions regarding what we know and what we are still unable to explain about what happens to us at the threshold of death Adapted from publisher description

Heaven's Door Michael Knaggs, 2014-11-28 The events of these past few months can be likened to the destabilising of a mountain top creating a political and social avalanche of awesome overwhelming power As it cascades unstoppable in its devastating surge it now seems certain that everything in its path will be either swept along with it or buried irretrievably beneath The public demand for radical change in law and order in the wake of a catalytic event on a tough East London estate featured in Catalyst the first book in the Hotel St Kilda Trilogy Now with the second installment Heaven's Door we rejoin the story as the new government who swept to power off the back of the public's appetite for reform start to assert their control The new measures for addressing street crime include lifetime banishment for worst offenders a popular development which receives widespread support and which Tom Brown the Home Secretary decides to extend to cover other serious crimes Although he meets strong opposition to this change he steadfastly pushes it through Then at the zenith of his political achievement and just when he seems reconciled with his family his decision backfires His private and political lives collide dramatically and Tom is faced with a devastating choice which either way will lead to personal tragedy Meanwhile Detective Inspector Jo Cottrell and a former colleague David Gerrard begin looking into the circumstances that led to this situation and uncover unexpected liaisons which raise a number of questions

Lorna Jane Cook, 2011-03-29 Alice Griffin and Dinah Stenen's mother and father died tragically when they were quite young
The loss haunts them into adulthood Alice is a stage actress in New York who can't commit to a relationship When she meets Ian she's smitten but suspects it's Ian's four year old son that really captivates her Griffin and his longtime partner are settled into a contented domesticity however Theo's insistence that they adopt a child throws Griffin into a panic When he refuses to cooperate the crack in their relationship widens Dinah the youngest has a short passionate love affair that leaves her pregnant and alone when she discovers the father is engaged to someone else The three look to each other for support during this rough period but they falter What they don't know is that their parents are watching them from a place outside time and space worrying reminiscing and perhaps guiding their children as each makes their tentative way towards happiness In luminous prose Cook tells the story of these tender souls and a love that knows no boundaries
