

Chapter 1

Foundations of Interpersonal Communication

Interpersonal communication connects people. This unit introduces us to the fascinating nature of that connection. We will look at why interpersonal communication is important, the nature of interpersonal communication, the elements of that interpersonal communication process and the basic principles of interpersonal communication.

Chapter Objectives

1. Why study interpersonal communication?

- a. Personal and social success—depends largely on our effectiveness as communicators.
 1. Close friendships and romantic relationships are made, maintained and nurtured through interpersonal interactions.
 2. Healthy relationships also depend on effective interpersonal communication.
 3. A survey of 1,000 people over 18 showed that 55 percent felt that a lack of effective communication was the major cause of marriage failure, while only 34 percent cited money and 14 percent cited in-law interference as factors.
 4. Interpersonal communication is also important when interacting with neighbors, acquaintances and people you meet every day.
- b. Professional success—in related to interpersonal communication where our behaviors, actions and our oral and body meetings.
 1. A 2004 study reports that 66 percent of nurses get “communication and interpersonal skills” at the top of their lists.
 2. Interpersonal skills offer a key advantage for future professionals as well as all professions.
 3. Interpersonal skills have a role in preventing workplace violence and in improving disciplinary relationships and preventing medical mistakes.
 4. In one survey, 64 percent of employers felt colleges should place more emphasis on communicating orally and in writing and 64 percent identified communication skills as the element that would most prepare students for success.
 5. Understanding the theory and research in interpersonal communication will help you master the skills of interpersonal communication.
 - a. The more skills you have, the more effective the communicating you will have in different situations.
