Into The River:

Characterization and Simulation of Ground-water Flow in the Kansas River Valley at Fort Riley, Kansas, 1990-98 Nathan C. Myers, 2000 River Pollution in India and Its Management Krishna Gopal, 2003 US-26/89, Snake River Canyon Highway, Alpine Jct to Hoback Jct, Teton County, Lincoln County, 1994 Modeling Nutrient and Dissolved-oxygen Transport in the Truckee River and Truckee Canal Downstream from Reno, Nevada Jon O. Nowlin, 1987 Water, Food and Poverty in River Basins Myles Fisher, Simon Cook, 2013-09-13

Conventional wisdom says that the world is heading for a major water crisis By 2050 global population will increase from 7 billion to a staggering 9.5 billion and the demands this will place on food and water systems will inevitably push river basins over the edge The findings from this book present a different picture While it is convenient to visualize an inevitable global water and food crisis in which increasing demands result in increasing poverty food insecurity and conflict the reality is far more nuanced and revolves around the politics of equitable and sustainable development of resources The first part of this book provides detailed insight into conditions of water flows within nine river basins In the second part authors summarize and re analyze the outcome of the nine basins providing a coherent global picture of water productivity and development They assess the impacts of variations of these attributes on development and approaches for poverty alleviation and explore the institutional factors that support or obstruct change How people will manage river systems while protecting vital ecosystem functions will make the difference between catastrophe and survival As Prof Asit Biswas points out the world is facing a water crisis not because of physical scarcity of water but because of poor management practices in nearly all countries of the world The book is based on the four years 2006-2010 of extensive research into the state of ten of the world's major river basins carried out under the CGIAR Challenge Program for Water and Food's Basin Focal Project This book was published as a special issue of Water International

Turco, Robert Buchmiller, 2004 Making Space for the River Jeroen Frank Warner, Arwin van Buuren, Jurian Edelenbos, 2012-11-01

This book examines recent developments in river flood management from the viewpoint of Making Space for the River and the resulting challenges for water governance Different examples from Europe and the United States of America are discussed that aim to green rivers including increasing river discharge for flood management enhancing natural and landscape values promoting local or regional economic development and urban regeneration Making Space for the River presents not only opportunities and synergies but also risks as it crosses established institutional boundaries and touches on multiple stakeholder interests which can easily clash Making Space for the River helps the reader to understand the policy and governance dynamics that lead to these tensions and pays attention to a variety of attempts to organize effective and legitimate governance approaches The book helps to realize connections between policy domains problem frames and goals of different actors at different levels that contribute to decisive and legitimate action Making Space for the River has an international comparative character that sheds light upon both the country specific governance dilemmas which relate to specific state traditions and institutional characteristics of national water management but also uncovers interesting similarities which provide us with building blocks to formulate more generic lessons about the governance of Making Space for the River in different institutional and social contexts The authors of this book come from a variety of disciplines including public administration town and country planning geography and anthropology and these different disciplines bring multiple ways of knowing and understanding of Making Space for the River programs The book combines interdisciplinary scientific analyses of Space for the River projects and programs with practical knowing and lessons drawing Making Space for the River is written for both practitioners and scholars and students of environmental policy spatial planning land use and water management Editors Jeroen Warner Assistant Professor of Disaster Studies Wageningen University The Netherlands Arwin van Buuren Associate Professor of Public Administration Erasmus University Rotterdam The Netherlands Jurian Edelenbos Professor of Public Administration Erasmus University Rotterdam The Netherlands Columbia River System Operation Review (SOR) ,1996 Induced Infiltration from the Rockaway River and Water Chemistry in a Stratified-drift Aquifer at Dover, New Jersey Joel E.
