Transforming America Taeku Lee, S. Karthick Ramakrishnan, Ricardo Ramírez, 2012-10-05 Over the past four decades the foreign born population in the United States has nearly tripled from about 10 million in 1965 to more than 30 million today. This wave of new Americans comes in disproportionately large numbers from Latin America and Asia, a pattern that is likely to continue in this century. In Transforming Politics: Transforming America, editors Taeku Lee, S. Karthick Ramakrishnan, and Ricardo Ramírez bring together the newest work of prominent scholars in the field of immigrant political incorporation to provide the first comprehensive look at the political behavior of immigrants. Focusing on the period from 1965 to the year 2020, this volume tackles the fundamental yet relatively neglected questions: What is the meaning of citizenship and what is its political relevance? How are immigrants changing our notions of racial and ethnic categorization? How is immigration transforming our understanding of mobilization, participation, and political assimilation? With an emphasis on research that brings innovative theory, quantitative methods, and systematic data to bear on such questions, this volume presents a provocative, evidence-based examination of the consequences that these demographic changes might have for the contemporary politics of the United States, as well as for the concerns, categories, and conceptual frameworks we use to study race relations and ethnic politics.

After Orientalism, 2016-08-09 How does Edward Said's Orientalism speak to us today? What relevance did and does it have politically and intellectually? How and in what modes does Orientalism engage with new intersecting fields of inquiry? At the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Orientalism, these questions shape the essays collected in the present volume. The after of the title does not only guide the contributions in a look on past discussions but specifically points at future research as well. Orientalism's critical entanglements are thus connected to productive looks these productive looks make us read differently but only after we recognize our struggle with the dominant notions that we live by that divide and unite us. More specifically, this volume addresses three fields of research enabling productive looks: visual culture, the body, sexuality, and the performative and national identities, modernity and gender. All articles weaving delicate new analytical and theoretical textures maintain vital links with at least two of the fields mentioned. Orientalism's role as a cultural catalyst is gauged in the analysis of materials such as Iranian film, 16th and 17th century Venetian representations of the Turk.
