Contemporary Issues in Development Finance Joshua Yindenaba Abor, Charles Komla Delali Adjasi, Robert Lensink, 2020-12-29. Contemporary Issues in Development Finance provides comprehensive and up-to-date coverage of theoretical and policy issues in development finance from both the domestic and the external finance perspectives and emphasizes addressing the gaps in financial markets. The chapters cover topical issues such as microfinance, private sector financing, aid, FDI, remittances, sovereign wealth, trade finance and the sectoral financing of agricultural and infrastructural projects. Readers will acquire both breadth and depth of knowledge in critical and contemporary issues in development finance from a philosophical and yet pragmatic development impact approach. The text ensures this by carefully integrating the relevant theoretical underpinnings, empirical assessments and practical policy issues into its analysis. The work is designed to be fully accessible to practitioners with only a limited theoretical economic background, allowing them to deeply engage with the book as useful reference material. Readers may find more advanced information and technical details provided in clear, concise boxes throughout the text. Finally, each chapter is fully supported by a set of review questions and by cases and examples from developing countries, particularly those in Africa. This book is a valuable resource for both development finance researchers and students taking courses in development finance, development economics, international finance, financial development, policy and economic policy management. Practitioners will find the development impact policy and conceptual analysis dimensions insightful for analysing and designing intervention strategies.

Econometric Business Cycle Research Jan Jacobs, 2012-12-06. Econometric Business Cycle Research deals with econometric business cycle research. EBCR, a term introduced by the Nobel laureate Jan Tinbergen for his econometric method of testing economic business cycle theories, combines economic theory and measurement in the study of business cycles, i.e. ups and downs in overall economic activity. We assess four methods of EBCR: business cycle indicators, simultaneous equations models, vector autoregressive systems and real business indicators. After a sketch of the history of the methods, we investigate whether the methods meet the goals of EBCR: the three traditional ones description forecasting and policy evaluation and the one Tinbergen introduced the implementation testing of business cycles The first three EBCR methods are illustrated for the Netherlands a typical example of a small open economy The main conclusion of the book is that simultaneous equation models are the best vehicle for EBCR if all its goals are to be attained simultaneously This conclusion is based on a fairly detailed assessment of the methods and is not overturned in the empirical illustrations The main conclusion does not imply the end of other EBCR methods Not all goals have to be met with a single vehicle other methods might serve the purpose equally well or even better For example if one is interested in business cycle forecasts one might prefer a business cycle indicator or vector autoregressive system A second conclusion is that many ideas concepts that play an important role in current discussions about econometric methodology in general and EBCR in particular were put forward in the 1930s and 1940s A third conclusion is that it is difficult if not impossible to compare the outcomes of RBC models to outcomes of the other three methods because RBC modellers are not interested in modelling business cycles on an observation per observation basis A more general conclusion in this respect is that methods should adopt the same concept of business cycles to make them comparable Forthcoming Books Rose
