Land of My Ancestors Botlhale Tema, 2019-02-01 While working on the UNESCO Slave Route project in the early 2000s Botlhale Tema discovered the extraordinary fact that her highly educated family from the farm Welgeval in the Pilanesberg had originated with two young men who had been child slaves in the mid nineteenth century She pieced together the fragments of information from relatives and community members and scoured the archives to produce this book Land of My Ancestors previously published as The People of Welgeval tells the story of the two young men and their descendants as they build a life for themselves on Welgeval As they raise their families and take in people who have been dispossessed we follow the births deaths adventures and joys of the farm s inhabitants in their struggle to build a new community Set against the backdrop of slavery colonialism the Anglo Boer War and the rise of apartheid this is a fascinating and insightful retelling of history It is an inspiring story about friendship and family landownership and learning and about how people transform themselves from victims to victory A new prologue and epilogue give more historical context to the narrative and tell the story of the land claim involving the farm which happened after the book s original publication

Teacher Preparation in South Africa Linda Chisholm, 2019-10-09 The book will focus on the emergence of a racially divided system of teacher preparation and its dismantling post apartheid It will explore the policies and politics of discrepant pathways to teacher preparation within the context of international and comparative trends

The Education of the South African Native Charles Templeman Loram, 1917

Students' participation in university governance in South Africa Vuyo Mthethwa, 2023-03-01 The purpose of this book is to examine the academic experiences of students who participated in university governance at South African universities Scrutiny is placed on the alignment of student representative council constitutions and university statutes with the actual experiences students had in discharging their roles in governance and in the way this impacted their academic progress Through a multi site case study design semi structured interviews were conducted with members of the student representative council who participated in university governance and supported by document analysis and observations to generate the data The study adopted Tinto s Integration Theory and Astin s Theory of Involvement as the two frameworks are based on the relationship between students extra curricular activity and their academic experiences The study invokes a greater awareness of students as major stakeholder in governance and informs policies and practices that may better serve students academic experiences The study will contribute to the understanding of cooperative governance principles while drawing from the perspective of the students on their understanding limitations and challenges in discharging their roles in university governance

Legislative Assembly, 1973 Education, Race, and Social Change in South Africa John A. Marcum, 2023-04-28 Education Race and Social Change in South Africa examines the deep rooted issues of higher education in South Africa highlighting the complex interplay between race politics and access to education Beginning with the colonial foundations of South African higher education in the early 19th century it traces the development of institutions such as the University of Cape Town and the University of Fort Hare reflecting the segregated nature of the education system As the country transitioned to a republic in the 20th century the policies of apartheid shaped the university landscape leading to the creation of separate institutions for various racial groups The book explores how these divisions have persisted particularly in the context of racial inequalities in enrollment and access to quality education with black students historically underrepresented in South Africa's leading universities The study also delves into the evolving nature of South African higher education in the face of racial segregation examining the impact of political shifts on the educational landscape With the rise of the National Party in 1948 and the implementation of strict segregation policies the book explores the creation of ethnic universities for non white students and the ongoing challenges faced by these institutions in providing quality education The book raises critical questions about the future of education in South Africa focusing on the need for reform to bridge the educational divide address teacher shortages and promote greater racial integration within universities It also considers the role of international collaboration and aid in fostering educational opportunities for black South Africans and suggests possible pathways for achieving equitable educational access This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1982 Selected Water Resources Abstracts ,1991 Call Me Woman Ellen Kuzwayo, 2018-08-28 Like millions of black South Africans made strangers in the land of their birth Ellen Kuzwayo lost a great deal in her lifetime the farm in the Orange Free State that had belonged to her family for nearly a hundred years her hopes for a full and peaceful life for her children and even her freedom when at the age of 63 she found herself detained under the so called Terrorism Act for an offence never specified But she never lost her courage This remarkable autobiography refuses to focus only on the author for it draws on the unrecorded history of a whole people In telling her own personal and political story over 70 years Ellen Kuzwayo speaks for and with the women among whom she worked and lived Their courage and dignity remain a source of wonder and inspiration Rainbow Nation My Zulu Arse Sihle Khumalo, 2018-10-12 After exploring more than twenty other African nations using only public transport Sihle Khumalo this time roams within the borders of his own country The familiarity of his own car is a luxury but what he finds on his journey through South Africa ranges from the puzzling to the downright bizarre. Voyaging from the northernmost part of South Africa right to the south the author noses his car down freeways and back roads into small towns townships and villages some of which you'll have trouble finding on a map. But this is no clichéd description of beautiful landscapes and blue skies. Khumalo is out to investigate the state of the nation from its highest successes to its most depressing failures. Whether or not he's baffled, surprised or sometimes plain angry, Sihle Khumalo will always find warmth in his fellow South Africans: security guards, religious visionaries, drunks, political activists and the many other colourful personalities that come alive in his riveting account.

Accountability in Higher Education Bjorn Stensaker, Lee Harvey, 2010-09-13 The latest volume in the Routledge International Studies in Higher Education series, Accountability in Higher Education takes an in-depth look at accountability initiatives around the world. Various evaluations, reporting schemes and indicator systems have been initiated both to inform the public about higher education performance and to help transform universities and colleges and improve their functioning. This edited collection provides a comparative analysis of the promises, perils and paradoxes of accountability and the potential effect on power structures and higher education autonomy, trust and the legitimacy of the sector. Part I describes how accountability is perceived and understood in different regions of the world, identifies some of the most common elements in established accountability initiatives, especially related to quality assurance and provides direction for possible future development. Part II focuses on responses to new demands for accountability at institutional, national and international levels and provides practical guidance for handling accountability going forward, emphasizing the dynamic relationship between international development, government strategies and organizational change. This volume is a must-have resource for HE managers, administrators, policy makers, researchers, HE graduate students and those interested or involved with HE accountability practices.

One World, Many Knowledges Halvorsen, Tar, Vale, Peter, 2016-05-12 Various forms of academic co-operation criss-cross the modern university system in a bewildering number of ways, from the open exchange of ideas and knowledge to the sharing of research results and frank discussions about research challenges. Embedded in these scholarly networks is the question of whether a global template for the management of both higher education and national research organisations is necessary and if so, must institutions slavishly follow the high-flown language of the global knowledge society or risk falling behind in the ubiquitous university ranking system. Or are there alternatives that can achieve a better, more ethically inclined world? Basing their observations on their own experiences, an interesting mix of seasoned scholars and new voices from southern Africa and the Nordic region offer critical perspectives on issues of inter- and cross-regional academic co-operation. Several of the chapters also touch on the evolution of the higher education sector in the two regions. An absorbing and intelligent study, this book will be invaluable for anyone interested in the strategies scholars are using to adapt to the interconnectedness of the modern world. It offers fresh insights into how academics are attempting to protect the spaces in which they can freely and openly debate the challenges they face while aiming to transform higher education and foster scholarly collaboration The Southern African Nordic Centre SANORD is a partnership of higher education institutions from Denmark Finland Iceland Norway Sweden Botswana Namibia Malawi South Africa Zambia and Zimbabwe SANORD's primary aim is to promote multilateral research co operation on matters of importance to the development of both regions Our activities are based on the values of democracy equity and mutually beneficial academic engagement

Governance and the postcolony David Everatt, 2019-08-01 Civil society NGOs governments and multilateral institutions all repeatedly call for improved or good governance yet they seem to speak past one another Governance is in danger of losing all meaning precisely because it means many things to different people in varied locations This is especially true in sub Saharan Africa Here the postcolony takes many forms reflecting the imperial project with painful accuracy Offering a set of multidisciplinary analyses of governance in different sectors crisis management water food security universities in different locales across sub Saharan Africa and from different theoretical approaches network to adversarial network governance this volume makes a useful addition to the growing debates on how to govern It steers away from offering a correct definition of governance or from promoting a particular position on postcoloniality It gives no neat conclusion but invites readers to draw their own conclusions based on these differing approaches to and analyses of governance in the postcolony As a robust critical assessment of power and accountability in the sub Saharan context Governance and the Postcolony Views from Africa brings together topical case studies that will be a valuable resource for those working in the field of African international relations public policy public management and administration

Rethinking International Skilled Migration Micheline van Riemsdijk, Qingfang Wang, 2016-10-04 In today's global knowledge economy competition for the best and brightest workers has intensified Highly skilled workers are an asset to companies knowledge institutions cities and regions as they contribute to knowledge creation innovation and economic growth and development Skilled migrants cross and many times straddle international borders to pursue professional opportunities These spatial relocations provide opportunities and challenges for migrants and the cities and regions they inhabit How have international skilled migratory flows been formed sustained and transformed over multiple spaces and scales How have these processes affected cities and regions And how have multiple stakeholders responded to these processes The contributors to this book bring together perspectives from economic social urban and population geography in order to address these questions from a myriad of angles Empirical case studies from different regions illuminate the multiscaled processes of international skilled migration In particular the contributions rethink skilled migration theories and provide insights into the experiences of highly skilled labor migrants and international students issues related to transnational activities and return migration and policy implications for both immigrant source and destination countries It also charts a future research agenda for international skilled migration research Rethinking International Skilled Migration provides a comparative perspective on the experiences of skilled migrants across the local regional national and or global
