Foundations of Environmental Economics Wolfgang Buchholz, Christiane Reif, Dirk Rübelke, 2024-12-24 This textbook provides a solid introduction to the theoretical and empirical aspects of environmental economics and their links to environmental policy In this second edition all chapters have been updated and restructured and new sections have been added to reflect a greater focus on climate policy Starting from the need to balance the social costs of pollution against the financial costs of emission abatement the book discusses the major issues that arise in the context of environmental policy such as the potential and limitations of monetary valuation of the environment and in particular the contingent valuation method and the design of environmental policy With regard to the choice of environmental policy instruments the book focuses on the price based instruments preferred by economists i.e. environmental taxes and emissions trading discussing in detail not only their many advantages but also their drawbacks The second edition especially focuses on green industrial policy as a complementary measure to price based instruments the distributional effects of environmental policies and the resulting challenges for political feasibility Moreover the book deals extensively with international environmental problems in particular climate protection which is a global public good that will be underprovided when certain countries refuse to cooperate and contribute Approaches to overcoming this underprovision are described in far more detail than in the first edition both theoretically and empirically in particular by assessing the functions of the many international environmental agreements in this field Finally a new chapter considers adaptation strategies especially in the water sector as an additional pillar of climate policy
