This work comes from the prominent and high profile University of Maryland's Human Computer Interaction Lab.

My iPad 2 (covers iOS 5) Gary Rosenzweig, 2011-10-14. The iPad is a unique and totally revolutionary device in many ways. The iPad is a tablet computer featuring multi-touch interaction with print, video, photo and audio, multimedia, internet browsing and runs most iPhone OS apps. The device has an LED backlit 9.7 inch 25 cm color LCD display and uses a virtual keyboard for text input. The iPad like the iPod uses a Multi-touch interface that enables users to easily control the device and type with their fingers. It also includes sensors that automatically re-orient the screen display to match the orientation of the iPad such as switching to landscape view when the user rotates the iPad 90 degrees when watching video. All iPad models include the applications Music, iWork, Videos, Photos, iTunes, iBook providing access to the Wi-Fi Music Store and book store, Safari, YouTube, Calendar, Contacts, Clock, Calculator and Settings. My iPad 3 e will include necessary coverage of iTunes and iBook to enable readers to manage the content on their iPad as well as purchase applications and customizing settings. In addition, readers will learn how to use every feature of their iPad and receive expert advice on topics like customizing, running apps using peripheral devices and more. This edition has been updated to include coverage on the main new features of iOS 5 including the revolutionary new iCloud which allows users to update their iPads without having to sync up with their computer.

Bayou Harvest Helen A. Regis, Shana Walton, 2024-01-30. Winner of the 2025 James Mooney Award from the Southern Anthropological Society. To inhabitants of the Gulf Coast region of Louisiana, food is much more than nourishment. The acts of gathering, preparing and sharing food are ways to raise children, bond with friends and build community. In Bayou Harvest: Subsistence Practice in Coastal Louisiana, Helen A. Regis and Shana Walton examine how coastal residents deploy self-reliance and care for each other through harvesting and sharing food. Pulling from four years of fieldwork and study, Walton and Regis explore harvesting, hunting and foraging by Native Americans, Cajuns and other Bayou residents. This engagement with Indigenous thinkers and their neighbors yields a multifaceted view of subsistence in Louisiana. Readers will learn about coastal residents' love for the land and water, their deep connections to place and how they identify with their food and game heritage. The book also delves into their worries about the future, particularly storms, pollution and land loss in the coastal region. Using a set of narratives that documents the everyday food practices of these communities, the authors conclude that subsistence is not so much a specific task like peeling shrimp or harvesting sassafras but is fundamentally about what these activities mean to the people of the coast. Drawn together with immersive writing, this book explores a way of life that is vibrant, built on deep historical roots and profoundly threatened by

These proceedings contain the refereed full technical papers presented at the 26th Annual European Conference on Information

Retrieval ECIR 2004 ECIR is the annual conference of the British Computer Society's specialist group in Information Retrieval. This year the conference was held at the School of Computing and Technology at the University of Sunderland. ECIR began life as the annual Colloquium on Information Retrieval Research. The colloquium was held in the UK each year until 1998 when the event was held in Grenoble, France. Since then the conference venue has alternated between the United Kingdom and Continental Europe and the event was renamed the European Conference on Information Retrieval. In recent years ECIR has continued to grow and has become the major European forum for the discussion of research in the field of Information Retrieval. To mark this metamorphosis from a small informal colloquium to a major event in the IR research calendar the BCS IRSG decided to rename the event to the European Conference on Information Retrieval.

ECIR 2004 received 88 full paper submissions from across Europe and further afield including North America, China and Australia, a testament to the growing popularity and reputation of the conference. Out of the 88 submitted papers, 28 were accepted for presentation. All papers were reviewed by at least three reviewers. Among the accepted papers, 11 have a student as the primary author, illustrating that the traditional student focus of the original colloquium is alive today.

Building Successful Internet Businesses David Elderbrock, Nitin Borwankar, 1996 This is the first complete guide and sourcebook for the new breed of entrepreneurs and business managers interested in creating a business directly on the Internet. While most Internet business books describe how to add an Internet component to existing businesses, this book tells how to start a new business on the Net and how to design it for this special medium. The CD contains a collection of sample applications that can be used to build a Web site like some of the businesses described in this book.
