Transforming Japanese Business Anshuman Khare, Hiroki Ishikura, William W. Baber, 2019-12-06. This book explores how the business transformation taking place in Japan is influenced by the digital revolution. Its chapters present approaches and examples from sectors commonly understood to be visible arenas of digital transformation: 3D printing and mobility, for instance, as well as some from not so obvious sectors such as retail services and fintech. Business today is facing unprecedented change, especially due to the adoption of new digital technologies with a noticeable transformation of manufacturing and services. The changes have been brought by advanced robotics, the emergence of artificial intelligence, and digital networks that are growing in size and capability as the number of connected devices explodes. In addition, there are advanced manufacturing and collaborative connected platforms including machine-to-machine communications. Adoption of digital technology has caused process disruptions in both the manufacturing and services sectors and led to new business models and new products. While examining the preparedness of the Japanese economy to embrace these changes, the book explores the impact of digitally influenced changes on some selected sectors from a Japanese perspective. It paints a big picture in explaining how a previously manufacturing-centric successful economy adopts change to retain and rebuild success in the global environment. Japan as a whole is embracing yet also avoiding innovating but also restricting various forms of digitalization of life and work. The book, with its 17 chapters, is a collaborative effort of individuals contributing diverse points of view as technologists, academics, and managers.

Corporate commitment to hiring veterans :Congressional Hearing , The Role of Multinational Companies in the Middle East Mamarinta P. Mababaya, 2002. This study investigated whether known economic and international business theories available in the literature are meaningful enough to explain the nature, existence, and role of multinational companies (MNCs) in the Middle East, particularly Saudi Arabia. Two sets of questionnaires were distributed in major cities of Saudi Arabia: one set for 100 multinational managers and another for 280 multinational customers. 234 questionnaires were collected: 45 from multinational managers and 189 from customers. This represents a total response rate of 62 percent which is adequate for this study. The empirical results supported with comprehensive secondary data confirmed virtually all of the research hypotheses. The study found that joint ventures are the dominant form of multinational business in Saudi Arabia both in manufacturing and service industries. The core roles of MNCs in the Saudi foreign ventures are evident in the cross border value adding activities of marketing, trading, manufacturing, consulting, contracting, project management, insurance, hotel operation and banking. Likewise MNCs provide licensing, franchising, financing services and various auxiliary roles in the Kingdom. Therefore the multinationality of a firm or a group of firms operating across national boundaries is not necessarily synonymous with international production, the main subject of contemporary multinational theories. The respondents generally perceived the competitiveness of MNCs operating in Saudi Arabia as a function of a number of economic, management, marketing, technological and other variables. They also perceived the contributions of MNCs to the Kingdom's socio-economic developments as significant and positive. The study also found that understanding Islamic values and ethics is important for MNCs. In this regard the researcher looked at some objective indicators of business success and related them to selected measures of MNCs' local cultural awareness and responsiveness. The results indicate that the business success of multinationals operating in Saudi Arabia is positively related to their local cultural awareness and responsiveness. Along this line this study covers some vital elements of Islamic culture which will help MNCs understand further the cultural needs, values and sensitivities of the Saudi people and Muslims in general.

Customer Relationship Management Chaturvedi, 2006-03-30. About the Book Customer Relationship Management CRM was born in the 1990s in the West. In the initial phases the over enthusiastic businesses invested almost US 400 billion. But the very same businesses were disheartened very soon primarily because there were no visible results. And there were no quick results mainly because 80 per cent of the investments were made in technology. CRM meant technology to them then CRM means technology to them even today. However no business need bother so long as it is ready to go by the human aspect of CRM and take technology only as a facilitator. This book is an attempt to present this human side of CRM. The authors' belief is that in the long term CRM can be successful only due to its human face. The book is arranged in three Parts. Part I Customer Relationship Management contains the academic inputs titled as Customer is King, Customer Managed Relationships, Mini Marketing, Types of CRM, Building Blocks of CRM, CRM Strategies, Customer Relationship Management by Indian Firms, Customer Retention Strategies, HRM in CRM and Implementing a Technology based CRM Solution. Part II Call Centre Management covers the areas concerning the working of a call centre titled as The Call Centre, Call Centre Functionality, Team Building, Customer Relationship Management, Web based Customer Support and Contact Centre, Glossary. Part III Cases gives a first hand idea of the working of CRM in the more peculiar contexts like public sector undertakings through five well documented cases.
