

How to Write a Successful Doctoral Research Proposal: The Makerere Format

1.0 Introduction

Writing and submitting an acceptable research proposal is not a simple task, and can be an exasperating experience even for the most accomplished researcher. For the novices in research (many doctoral students are), producing a proposal can be a very frustrating and academically challenging exercise. In the College of Education and External Studies (CEES) at Makerere University for instance, the author is aware of some doctoral students who have spent over 10 years on their PhD programmes without submitting any acceptable dissertation or thesis proposal. Such students, of course, are not permitted to commence writing their doctoral dissertations or theses until they have written and submitted their research proposals. Most often, stories are abound on campus why such students delay to produce their proposals. Many claim that “so and so was delayed for several months or even years by a malicious supervisor or administrator, or such and such a student had to change the supervisor because the supervisor had started to demand for sex or money, or ...”. The stories are usually endless! However, amidst these accusations and counter-accusations (because the supervisors also accuse the students of several vices), there are still a few students who write and submit their dissertation or thesis proposals within the recommended time (for example, the author took five months to write and submit his proposal for review in the same University). In fact, there are even a few cases, where some students produce their proposals and final dissertations well before the stipulated time. This raises concern and makes us ask: (i) how do those students who successfully write their proposals make it? (ii) What do they write that others do not? (iii) What is a research proposal, and how important is it in a study? And (iv), what are the key elements of a research proposal and what does the Makerere University’s guidelines say about proposal writing? In this paper, the writer attempts to address some of these issues basing on his experience as a former doctoral student (now staff) of Makerere University. But first, what is a research proposal, and how important is it?

1.1 What is a Research Proposal?

Literally, the word ‘proposal’ means a suggestion put forward by someone for consideration or discussion by others - like in the case when someone makes a marriage proposal to you. Applied loosely to research, a proposal is a suggestion or plan by someone (the researcher) indicating a researchable problem and how s/he intends to resolve it. However, technically, a research proposal is a written presentation of an intended research specifying the problem, purpose, scope/objectives, methodology, references and the budget of the study (Amin, 2003; Makerere University, 2011). It is an overview of the intended research describing the proposed project: its design, financial requirements and its potential contribution to the existing body of knowledge (Oso & Onen, 2009). As such, a well-prepared proposal should act as an efficient and effective guide to the researcher while conducting his/her study.

Postgraduate Research Engagement in Low Resource Settings Atibuni, Dennis Zami, 2019-09-27 The general academic progression and particularly research engagement of postgraduate students is characterized by various problems such as high dropout rates longer completion times low graduation rates and high repetition or retake rates This means that there are far fewer students pursuing postgraduate studies at tertiary institutions and universities than there are at the lower levels of education Yet there is growing demand for postgraduate education given its strong projected association with socioeconomic transformation at national and international levels among developed and developing countries alike Postgraduate Research Engagement in Low Resource Settings sets out to garner strategies for fostering efficiency of research conduct among the students and faculty so as to enhance high quality output for the envisaged personal societal national and international socioeconomic transformation Covering a range of topics such as intellectual property mental health and quality assurance this book is ideal for research supervisors higher education faculty librarians educators administrators researchers academicians and students

The Experience of Examining the PhD Michael Byram, Maria Stoicheva, 2022-12-30 This book provides an authoritative overview of the criteria and standards of the doctorate across a wide range of international settings with a particular focus on the practices of examining Presenting case studies and research from 13 universities in 13 countries across Africa Asia North and South America Australia and Europe the book is based on in depth interviews and comparative analyses of the PhD examining experience It reveals the variations and similarities in different academic traditions and investigates the extent to which there are comparable expectations and standards across countries It suggests that criteria and standards both written and unwritten are broadly similar but shows that there is a need for much more explicitly formulated criteria and standards for an internationalised approach to doctoral assessment Following on from the 2019 book The Doctorate as Experience in Europe and Beyond this book will be of great interest to current and potential doctoral examiners researchers of higher education and university administrators

Dialogue in Pursuit of Development Jan Olsson, Lennart Wohlgemuth, 2003 Dialogue is often considered to be the hub of international relations not the least in development co operation However it is extremely difficult to achieve dialogue in its true sense between partners in development Its efficiency is severely constrained due to the asymmetry in financial and human resources and knowledge Dialogue in development co operation is in that respect not an interaction between equals How to overcome such constraints is a challenge for all actors involved and the main line of inquiry in this study More than twenty practitioners with long experience of working with development co operation present personal reflections and ideas about the concept and process
