

Short exercises for Murach's HTML and CSS (5th edition)

Write at least one short exercise for each chapter and submit it to the development staff. You can find an explanation of how to write exercises in the appendix.

Guidelines for doing the short exercises

1. Write the exercise steps in sequence. I find it easy to write the steps. I usually write the steps before I start coding.
2. Start each step by copy and paste code from the book. Then modify the code as needed, as specified in your exercise steps.
3. Use code blocks as a guide for coding.
4. At points along the way, write down what you think you just completed doing. Write simple and brief notes like:
5. Review each short exercise to determine if it is complete. Some people think the page they printed for doing the exercise is their exercise sheet. I explained to them that each exercise had several steps to complete a task successfully. They say, you could get a "fill and follow" sheet of paper with the steps listed. I said, you're writing your own page.
