inspiration and strategies for melding technology and children's literature from practitioners who have found effective ways to engage young people with text both in print and on screen. The contributors to this anthology include classroom teachers, librarians, university educators, and journalists. They speak not only to the technologically capable and media savvy teachers but also to the curious who seek starting points for using new technologies alongside traditional print media in their classrooms. They show how multimedia and digital technologies expand our approaches to literacy education and how to extend and enrich our use of stories whatever the media with all ages. Their articles cover a vast range of subjects arranged into 5 sections. This book provides current information, classroom examples, and anecdotes as practical tools to help teachers use digital media and print texts to extend students' learning. The helpful Teaching Tools section at the end of the book explains how to use a variety of digital tools in the classroom.

Teaching Academic and Professional English Online

Isabel González-Pueyo, 2009. In the last few years, Information and Communication Technologies (ICTs) have emerged as a transforming element in language teaching and learning and have become an integral part of many courses of English for professional and academic purposes (ESP). This collection brings together contributions from ESP teachers who provide an account of educational experiences involving ICTs and share their practices, successes, failures, and reflections. Most papers in the volume report on blended learning experiences where teachers use either Course Management Systems like WebCT or Moodle or online learning environments created by themselves. The contributions give ideas on how to develop pedagogically sound online language learning materials. Additionally, they discuss issues related to online language pedagogy and promote the development of online learning.
