Geopedology Joseph Alfred Zinck, Graciela Metternicht, Héctor Francisco del Valle, Marcos Angelini, 2023-01-30 This updated and revised second edition brings geopedology issues into the current context This new edition extends the work on popular topics such as digital soil mapping GIS and landscape mapping and it also gives valuable insight with up to date theoretical discussions and new application with relevant case studies This textbook offers a proven approach for reliable mapping of soil landscape relationships to derive information for policy planning and management at scales ranging from local to regional Filled with didactic elements such as case studies visual aids maps charts and figures questions and answers the book is of interest to geohazard studies land use conflict analysis land use planning land degradation assessment and land suitability analysis Soil is a vital resource for society at large and an important determinant of the economic status of nations The intensification of natural disasters and the increased land use competition for food and energy have raised awareness of the relevant role the pedosphere plays in natural and anthropogenic environments Recent papers and global initiatives show a renewed interest in soil research and its applications for improved planning and management of this fragile and finite resource The Global Thermohaline Paleocirculation Elena Ivanova, 2009-10-03 Originally published in Russian in 2006 this is the first English translation of this important book on paleoceanography and paleoclimatology Its initial publication was followed by a surge of interest in this subject prompting the author to revise and translate her original work In the book she successfully summarizes her own research over recent years and compiles an overview of up to date knowledge on past ocean circulation The key topics include Modern thermohaline circulation and main stages of its development during the Cenozoic Methods and proxies of paleoceanographic reconstruction Variability of the meridional overturning circulation and paleoceanographic events in the North Atlantic during the last climatic cycle Influence of the global thermohaline circulation on paleoceanographic events in the Eurasian Arctic seas the Northern Indian Ocean and the South China Sea The role of the thermohaline circulation in global teleconnections in the Antarctic Eurasian Arctic northern Pacific and low latitudes Indo Pacific Comprehensive investigation of hundreds of international publications and her own results convinced the author that the global thermohaline circulation controls the remote teleconnections on millennial scale and partly on centennial scale while short term climate signals are mainly transferred by the atmosphere This revised and extended English edition provides the latest unpublished data new figures and modeling results The extensive reference list contains more than 100 publications and 140 new references Geomorphology Mateo Gutierrez, 2012-12-07 This book provides a detailed coverage of the landforms of Planet Earth and the processes that shaped them The study of these morphologies some of which formed during past geological periods under environmental conditions very different from those of today makes it possible to reconstruct the evolution of relief and to infer environmental changes that have involved geological media the climate or human activity A major advance of Geomorphology in recent decades is the development of techniques that make it possible to quantify morphogenetic processes and rates at which forms change under different environmental conditions The development of Geochronology or absolute dating methods is helping us correct the limitations of relative dating that have prevailed in Geomorphology for many years The ability to assign numerical ages to both landforms and deposits opens up multiple possibilities for reconstructing the evolution of relief making correlations calculating rates and estimating recurrence periods A theme of major concern facing people today is the possible warming of the planet due to the release of greenhouse gases into the environment Investigations conducted by the scientific community show that this temperature increase is at least partially anthropogenic Given this more than probable cause and effect relationship the most sensible and prudent path is to design and apply mitigation measures to alleviate this heating that can negatively affect both the natural environment and human society The information that Geomorphology can provide on the recent past Historical Geomorphology may be very useful in making predictions on the activity of these potentially dangerous processes in the future and on the possible effects of environmental changes The aim of this book is to provide a general vision of the multiple aspects of Geomorphology and to provide a methodological foundation to approach the study of various branches of geomorphology To this end the book contains a basic bibliography that can be used for future research In addition applied aspects of Geomorphology are covered at the end of each chapter to provide knowledge of the activities of geomorphologists in the professional world
