Faculty of Education, What levels of explanation in the behavioural sciences? Giuseppe Boccignone,Roberto Cordeschi,2015-07-03 Complex systems are to be seen as typically having multiple levels of organization For instance in the behavioural and cognitive sciences there has been a long lasting trend promoted by the seminal work of David Marr putting focus on three distinct levels of analysis the computational level accounting for the What and Why issues the algorithmic and the implementational levels specifying the How problem However the tremendous developments in neuroscience knowledge about processes at different scales of organization together with the complexity of today cognitive theories suggest that there will hardly be only three levels of explanation Instead there will be many different degrees of commitments corresponding to the different granularities from high level behavioural models to low level neural and molecular models of the cognitive research program For instance Bayesian approaches that are usually advocated for formalizing Marr s computational level and rational behaviour have even been adopted to model synaptic plasticity and axon guidance by molecular gradients As a result we can consider the behavioural scientist as dealing with models at a multiplicity of levels The purpose of this Research Topic in Frontiers in Theoretical and Philosophical Psychology is to promote an approach to the role of the levels and explanation and models which is of interest for cognitive scientists neuroscientists psychologists behavioural scientists and philosophers of science Encyclopedia of Education and Human Development Stephen J. Farenga,Daniel Ness,2015-07-17 This comprehensive and exhaustive reference work on the subject of education from the primary grades through higher education combines educational theory with practice making it a unique contribution to the educational reference market Issues related to human development and learning are examined by individuals whose specializations are in diverse areas including education psychology sociology philosophy law and medicine The book focuses on important themes in education and human development Authors consider each entry from the perspective of its social and political conditions as well as historical underpinnings The book also explores the people whose contributions have played a seminal role in the shaping of educational ideas institutions and organizations and includes entries on these institutions and organizations This work integrates numerous theoretical frameworks with field based applications from many areas in educational research
