Christopher M. Hayre, William A.S. Cox, 2020-07-15 With chapters from globally recognized academics General Radiography shows the multifaceted approach to general radiography and how it enhances healthcare delivery Potentially influential to how healthcare delivery is offered it begins with the pertinent chapters examining image acquisition and dose optimization in diagnostic radiography Next chapters reflect and critically discuss aspects central to patient care and imaging within trauma critical care and pediatric situations The final section of this book then explores the learning teaching and education in the field of diagnostic radiography with novel strategies illustrated Mental Health: Intervention Skills for the Emergency Services Tricia Scott, 2023-03-28 This book addresses the practical management of mental health scenarios in the emergency setting and offers first hand reflections on how emergency nurses practitioners and allied mental health professionals handle these situations Responding to mental health needs in emergency situations can be profoundly complex Frequently emergency nurses and other personnel express their feelings of powerlessness as they do not know what to say or do in order to achieve the best outcome and have concerns that their intervention may make the situation worse for those in their care How a practitioner confronts the mental health encounter and takes the essential steps in managing the event can have a critical impact on how that person copes in the future This book helps readers understand what is involved in mental health work in emergency situations and the practical psychosocial and spiritual tensions that arise from managing the event and the sequelae Moreover it shows that it may be possible to provide a more effective emergency mental health service This unique edited book presents critical reflections on aspects of mental health work gathered from the hands on experiences of the personnel Mental health encounters in the emergency context are described in detail illustrating not only what emergency nurses and mental health workers do when mental health crises occur but also what they feel about what they do Written by a diverse team of emergency and mental health nurses and allied professionals currently engaged in emergency care both in hospital and pre hospital settings this book will appeal to emergency nurses and allied health professionals alike

African Economic Development Christopher Cramer, John Sender, Arkebe Oqubay, 2020 This book challenges conventional wisdoms about economic performance and possible policies for economic development in African countries Its starting point is the striking variation in African economic performance Unevenness and inequalities form a central fact of African economic experiences The authors highlight not only differences between countries but also variations within countries differences often organized around distinctions of gender class and ethnic identity For example neo natal mortality and school dropout have been reduced particularly for some classes of women in some areas of Africa Horticultural and agribusiness exports have grown far more rapidly in some countries than in others These variations and many others point to opportunities for changing performance reducing inequalities learning from other policy experiences and escaping the ties of structure and the legacies of a colonial past The book rejects teleological illusions and Eurocentric prejudice but it does pay close attention to the results of policy in more industrialized parts of the world Seeing the contradictions of capitalism for what they are fundamental and enduring may help policy officials protect themselves against the misleading idea that development can be expected to be a smooth linear process or that it would be were certain impediments suddenly removed The authors criticize a wide range of orthodox and heterodox economists especially for their cavalier attitude to evidence Drawing on their own decades of research and policy experience they combine careful use of available evidence from a range of African countries with political economy insights mainly derived from Kalecki Kaldor and Hirschman to make the policy case for specific types of public sector investment

Working with indigenous knowledge Fhumulani M. Mulaudzi, Rachel T. Lebeso, 2022 The aim of the book is to assist both local and international scholars in articulating the scholarly discourse on indigenous health attitudes practices and experiences The indigenous lens that was used to generate and disseminate indigenous knowledge in this book will strengthen indigenous scholarship thus making it accessible to a wider audience In addition the information shared in this book will add value for scholars and assist them with the indigenous knowledge needed to address sustainable development goals This book is timeless and topical as the discourse on the decolonisation of the curriculum is widely debated in the higher education space The discourse on the scholarship of indigenous knowledge as the tacit local knowledge that stems from cultural practices within communities has not been well articulated in the current health science education milieu Indigenous knowledge has remained overlooked and undermined for a very long time and the information remains untapped in local communities The scholars who conducted the research on which this book is based unearthed a wealth of knowledge which was tacit in nature and translated it into implicit knowledge that can be documented and shared with other scholars globally This knowledge will assist health care scholars in benefiting from knowledge practices and cultural beliefs that will assist them in health care planning teaching evidence based practice and further research

Choice and Conscience offers a fresh and insightful perspective on the highly debated issue of conscientious objection in abortion care Satang Nabaneh's socio legal approach which draws on both traditional legal scholarship and African feminist intellectual traditions provides a nuanced understanding of how legal norms construct and maintain power relations By focusing on the experiences of nurses in South Africa Nabaneh explores the complexities of conscience discretionary power and socio cultural and political factors that influence nurses decisions about whether or not to conscientiously object In the wake of the recent rollback of abortion rights in the United States and the trend towards liberalisation within the African region Nabaneh provides an important African perspective on how the international human rights framework should strike a contextual balance between freedom of conscience and ensuring access to abortion Choice and Conscience will interest lawyers activists policymakers scholars and students exploring the dynamic intersections of law healthcare and gender politics Choice and Conscience stands as a significant and valuable addition to the ongoing global scholarship on this critical issue It underscores the vital concept that intersectionality should occupy a central place in our examination of how various local contexts give rise to layered forms of privilege and disadvantage Dr Tlaleng Mofokeng UN Special Rapporteur on the right to health Nabaneh's study of law in action zeroes in on South African nurses gatekeepers who often object to the practice for reasons of conscience Her interviews of these nurses and her analysis complicate our understanding of challenges to abortion access providing lessons applicable not only to South Africa and other African countries but everywhere where there is a gap between formal law and its application Mindy Jane Roseman JD PhD Yale Law School Written from an African feminist perspective this book offers fresh insights into our understanding of the intersection between politics mobilisation of discretionary power and the exercise of conscientious objection to abortion by mid level providers Charles Ngwenya Professor of Law Centre for Human Rights University of Pretoria This book offers powerful insights about how informal and background norms in health systems function constrain or enable reproductive justice Focusing on conscientious objection to abortion by nurses including midwives in South Africa Nabaneh sketches the importance of a feminist analysis that is

Redefining the Psychological Contract in the Digital Era Melinde Coetzee, Alda Deas, 2021-02-18 This book introduces the psychological contract as a multi level contextual construct and closes some of the knowledge gaps on the nature of the digital era psychological contract. The digital era psychological contract gives rise to a new type of employer-employee relationship manifesting at the nexus between people and technology in a post-COVID 19 world. The book volume provides promising new approaches for psychological contract research, offering a rich compendium of reflections on the shifts in employer-employee expectations and obligations, as well as suggestions for future research and practice. Chapter contributions are divided into four main sections: The Digital Era Contextual Issues and the Psychological Contract; Managing the Psychological Contract in the Digital Era; Issues for Organisational Practice; Managing the Psychological Contract in the Digital Era; Issues of Diversity, Integration and Conclusion; Redefining the Psychological Contract in the Digital Era. This is an insightful examination of the evolving nature of the psychological contract, presenting novel insights into the antecedents, consequences, and facets of the new multi-level contextual digital era psychological contract. The primary audience for this book volume is advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students in industrial and organisational psychology and human resource management, as well as scholars in both academic and applied work settings. Human resource managers and professionals will also have an interest in this book volume.

Disrupting Higher Education Curriculum Michael Anthony Samuel, Rubby Dhunpath, Nyna Amin, 2017-05-10

Discomfort with the inappropriateness of university curricula has met with increasing calls for disruptive actions to revitalise higher education. This book conceived to envision an alternative emancipatory curriculum explores the historical, ideological, philosophical, and theoretical domains of higher education curricula. The authors acknowledge that universities have been and continue to be complicit in perpetuating cognitive damage through symbolic violence associated with indifference to the pernicious effects of race categorisation, gender inequalities, poverty, rising unemployment, and cultural hegemony, as they continue to frame curricula, cultures, and practices. The book contemplates the project of undoing cognitive damage, offering glimpses to redesign curriculum in the 21st century. The contributors, international scholars, emergent and expert researchers, include different nationalities, orientations, and positionalities, constituting an interdisciplinary ensemble which collectively provides a rich commentary on higher education curriculum as we know it and where we think it could be in the future. The edited volume is a catalytic tool for disrupting canonised rituals of practice in higher education. It has been a while since a scholarly book so authoritative in its claims and innovative in its concepts threatens to shake up the curriculum field at its foundations. Rich in metaphor and meaning, the superbly written chapters challenge a field that once more became moribund as we settled so far too comfortably into accepting handed-down frames and fictions about knowledge, authority, power, and agency that imprint cognitive damage on those forced to the margins of schools and universities. Disrupting Higher Education Curriculum demonstrates, however, that it is in fact from those margins of the education enterprise that academics, teachers, and learners can see more clearly how patterns of thought and action hold us back from placing and experiencing our African humanity at the centre of the curriculum. Jonathan Jansen, Rector and Vice-Chancellor of the University of the Free State.
