TO INVESTIGATE THE PROCESS OF MEIOSIS

Organisms produced by sexual reproduction are truly new organisms. They have different sets of genes from their parents. The gametes formed by meiosis are just for the purpose of sexual reproduction. Gametes cannot grow into another organism until they fuse with another gamete to form a zygote. When the zygote forms, it is genetically unique.

Genetic variation allows a species to have a better chance of adapting to and surviving sudden changes in the environment. No two individuals in a sexually reproducing population are exactly the same. Meiosis during sexual reproduction therefore ensures maximum genetic variation and improved the chances of a species' survival.

What Are They Thinking? Page Keeley, 2014-04-01 Children are continually developing ideas and explanations about their natural world Some of these ideas are consistent with the science children are taught others differ significantly from scientific explanations Many of these ideas will follow students into adulthood if they remain hidden from the teacher and unresolved The challenge for teachers is to find ways to elicit these ideas and then use appropriate strategies to move students learning forward Page Keeley author of the bestselling NSTA Press series Uncovering Student Ideas in Science You don't have to become a mind reader to understand the ideas young students bring to science class This collection will help you draw out and then recognize what students know or think they know about the natural world What Are They Thinking is a compendium of 30 Formative Assessment Probes columns from NSTA's elementary journal Science and Children Each chapter provides A sample formative assessment probe a set of interesting questions that root out commonly held often mistaken ideas Geared to elementary students probe topics range from why you can see the Moon in the daytime to where water goes when it evaporates to what is or isn't a rock Your students answers to each probe will help you take a step back and figure out how to guide them from where they are conceptually to where they need to be Accompanying teacher notes easy to grasp explanations and advice that tell you how to encourage evidence based discussion and then monitor students understanding A bonus feature a set of study group questions written especially for this compendium by award winning author Page Keeley So forget about acquiring psychic powers Instead turn to What Are They Thinking to transform both your teaching and your students learning about science

Slotta, Nathaniel Lasry, 2019-07-11 This book represents the emerging efforts of a growing international network of researchers and practitioners to promote the development and uptake of evidence based pedagogies in higher education at something a level approaching large scale impact By offering a communication venue that attracts and enhances much needed partnerships among practitioners and researchers in pedagogical innovation we aim to change the conversation and focus on how we work and learn together i.e. extending the implementation and knowledge of co design methods In this first edition of our Research Topic on Active Learning we highlight two of the three types of publications we wish to promote First are studies aimed at understanding the pedagogical designs developed by practitioners in their own practices by bringing to bear the theoretical lenses developed and tested in the education research community These types of studies constitute the practice pull that we see as a necessary counterbalance to knowledge push in a more productive pedagogical innovation ecosystem based on research practitioner partnerships Second are studies empirically examining the implementations of evidence based designs in naturalistic settings and under naturalistic conditions Interestingly the teams conducting these studies are already exemplars of partnerships between researchers and practitioners who are uniquely positioned as in between straddling the two worlds As a result these publications represent both the rigours of research and the pragmatism of reflective practice In forthcoming editions we will add to this collection a third type of publication design profiles These will present practitioner developed pedagogical designs at varying levels of abstraction to be held to scrutiny amongst practitioners instructional designers and researchers alike We hope by bringing these types of studies together in an open access format that we may contribute to the development of new forms of practitioner researcher interactions that promote co design in pedagogical innovation
