

Example #1

"Did you know that there are currently over 2.3 million Americans incarcerated for their crimes? While it is widely believed that prison should be the punishment for crime, statistics find that 77 percent of prisoners will re-offend once they are released. This suggests that prison is not working to reduce recidivism. My research paper aims to demonstrate that prison does not work as a way to prevent crime and that alternatives should be considered, such as restorative justice and other community sentencing."

Example #2

"According to the study by Nanci (12b), the horrific epidemic called obesity affects more than 1/3 of the US kids. It is a simple 7-letter word in English. At the same time, it is one of the most complicated and severe issues in the United States. The essay offers several possible solutions after analyzing the causes and effects of childhood obesity."

Example #3

"An interesting fact: the death penalty was once banned for 4 years. This type of capital punishment was not considered effective, legal, moral, or ethical back in 1972-1976. It is a controversial topic in the US. People who support such measures believe it is the best justice as the death penalty is the retribution toward those who have committed the severest types of crimes like rape or murder. Others call it inhumane. The death penalty was introduced at the beginning of civilization, and my study proves it is a must-have measure of punishment in each society."

Example #4

"Is global warming a myth or something every person should be worried about? The whole planet faces the problem. People should tackle it to keep various species of plants and animals safe and prevent the Earth from ruination. Some call it the greenhouse effect. Many people are not aware of the existing threats because of lacking promotion and government participation. The essay will prove that the problems associated with global warming should be introduced to the entire population with the help of special courses and free presentations on this problem."

Jensen,2016-10-04 Jensen's Format Writing is concerned with developing expository writing skills for high school students. This type of writing exposes, puts forth, explains, reveals, or exhibits in detail about something. It has a purpose to inform, clarify, and perhaps even to persuade. Such writing may simply describe, or it may give a series of reasons. In any case, there is a fundamental point that is made. How that point is made may often determine whether the piece is accepted or rejected. Students completing this course will learn valuable skills: the secret of cutting your work in half when it comes to writing a paper; how to order your presentation for its most powerful effect on the reader; a technique for getting the essence of what you read down on paper for future reference; how to stack up your ideas so that they flow together in a natural fashion; how to move ideas from sentence to sentence by following a simple rule; all about what and how to document your sources when doing research and writing.

Assignments across the Curriculum Dan Melzer,2014-08-15 In Assignments across the Curriculum, Dan Melzer analyzes the rhetorical features and genres of writing assignments through the writing to learn and writing in the disciplines perspectives. Presenting the results of his study of 2,101 writing assignments from undergraduate courses in the natural sciences, social sciences, business, and humanities in 100 postsecondary institutions in the United States, Assignments across the Curriculum is unique in its cross-institutional breadth and its focus on writing assignments. The results provide a panoramic view of college writing in the United States. Melzer's framework begins with the rhetorical situations of the assignments, the purposes and audiences, and broadens to include the assignments' genres and discourse community contexts. Among his conclusions is that courses connected to a writing across the curriculum (WAC) initiative ask students to write more often, in a greater variety of genres, and for a greater variety of purposes and audiences than non-WAC courses do, making a compelling case for the influence of the WAC movement. Melzer's work also reveals patterns in the rhetorical situations, genres, and discourse communities of college writing in the United States. These larger patterns are of interest to WAC practitioners working with faculty across disciplines, to writing center coordinators and tutors working with students who bring assignments from a variety of fields, to composition program administrators, to first-year writing instructors interested in preparing students for college writing, and to high school teachers attempting to bridge the gap between high school and college writing.
