Problem 3-1

(Related to Checkpoint 3.1) (Working with the income statement) At the end of its third year of operations, the Sandifer Manufacturing Co. had $4,900,000 in revenues, $3,375,000 in cost of goods sold, $450,000 in operating expenses which included depreciation expense of $150,000, and had a tax liability equal to 35% of the firm's taxable income. What is the net income of the firm for the year?

STEP 1: Picture the problem

The income statement's bottom line is the net income. The income statement can be visualized as a mathematical equation as follows:

$$\text{Revenues} - \text{Expenses} = \text{Profits.}$$

However, this equation belies the level of detail normally included in the income statement. That is, expenses are typically broken down into multiple categories including cost of goods sold, operating expenses (including such things as selling expenses, administrative expenses, and depreciation expenses), finance charges or expenses (interest), and income taxes. After subtracting each of these general categories of expenses a new profit number is calculated. The following template provides a useful guide for reviewing the format of the income statement:

Revenues
Less: Cost of Goods Sold
	Equals: Gross Profit
Less: Operating Expenses
	Equals: Net Operating Income
Less: Interest Expense
	Equals: Earnings before Taxes
Less: Income Taxes
	Equals: Net Income

STEP 2: Decide on a solution strategy

Given the account balances provided, constructing the income statement simply entails substituting the appropriate balances into the template found above.
