Making Citizens Beth C. Rubin, 2012-05-23 Can social studies classrooms be effective makers of citizens if much of what occurs in these classrooms does little to prepare young people to participate in the civic and political life of our democracy Making Citizens illustrates how social studies can recapture its civic purpose through an approach that incorporates meaningful civic learning into middle and high school classrooms The book explains why social studies teachers particularly those working in diverse and urban areas should infuse civic education into their teaching and outlines how this can be done effectively Directed at both pre service and in service social studies teachers and designed for easy integration into social studies methods courses this book follows students and teachers in social studies classrooms as they experience a new approach to the traditional history oriented social studies curriculum using themes essential questions discussion writing current events and action research to explore enduring civic questions Following the experiences of three teachers working at three diverse high schools Beth C Rubin considers how social studies classrooms might become places where young people study ponder discuss and write about relevant civic questions while they learn history She draws upon the latest sociocultural theories on youth civic identity development to describe a field tested approach to civic education that takes into consideration the classroom and curricular constraints faced by new teachers

Handbook of Research on Science Literacy Integration in Classroom Environments Tai, Chih-Che, Moran, Renee M. R., Robertson, Laura, Keith, Karin, Hong, Huili, 2018-10-12 Secondary schools are continually faced with the task of preparing students for a world that is more connected advanced and globalized than ever before In order to adequately prepare students for their future educators must provide them with strong reading and writing skills as well as the ability to understand scientific concepts The Handbook of Research on Science Literacy Integration in Classroom Environments is a pivotal reference source that provides vital research on the importance of cross curriculum discipline connections in improving student understanding and education While highlighting topics such as curriculum integration online learning and instructional coaching this publication explores practices in teaching students how to analyze and interpret data as well as reading writing and speaking This book is ideally designed for teachers graduate level students academicians instructional designers administrators and education researchers seeking current research on science literacy adoption in contemporary classrooms Transforming Undergraduate Education Donald W.

Harward,2012 Given the intensity of interest regarding the problems in higher education Harward notes how the systemic sources of those problems are infrequently addressed and even rarer is the offering of solutions or suggestions for positive actions Harward and his colleagues see the achievement of this book as doing both understanding the problems and offering solutions Reading, Writing, and Thinking Paul L. Thomas,Joe Kincheloe,2006-01-01 In a world gone mad with standardized curricula and the degradation of the profession of teaching P L Thomas and Joe Kincheloe attempt to bring sanity back to the discussion of the teaching of some of the basic features of the educational process In Reading Writing and Thinking The Postformal Basics the authors take on the rational irrationality of current imperial pedagogical practices providing readers with provocative insights into the bizarre assumptions surrounding the contemporary teaching of reading writing and thinking The authors are obsessed with producing an accessible book for multiple audiences parents teachers scholars of education that moves beyond critique to a new domain of the social and educational imagination Readers of Thomas and Kincheloe s book embark on a mind trip beginning with what is and moving to the realm of what could be In this context they introduce readers to a critical theory of thinking postformalism that moves the social and educational conversation to a new terrain of individual and social consciousness Tired of the same educational policies and solutions in the teaching of reading writing and thinking the authors become socio psychic explorers who move readers past the boundaries of contemporary pedagogical perception Let's Create Writers Timothy Horan,2021-10-21 In this book Dr

Timothy Horan presents an original and highly effective writing program whose major goal is to transform middle school students into competent and confident writers This writing program is innovative rigorous and engaging and was designed with the student in mind This book contains a total of twenty original writing assignments ten for seventh grade and another ten for eighth grade These assignments are based on middle school students natural predilections and developmental levels and represent creative interpretations of the Common Core Writing Standards Each writing project in this book is full and complete and is described with clarity and simplicity Each assignment also includes a reproducible outline that presents the assignment to students in a simplified graphical format The pedagogical philosophy underlying this program is simple and effective It seeks to provide students with enjoyable writing assignments that students will understand learn from and complete As students progress through the program they will develop an upbeat emotional bond with the act of writing and will learn to approach composition with a sense of optimism and confidence "Unwrapping" the Standards Larry Ainsworth,2003 A step by step process to understand what each standard is requiring a student to know and be able to do
