Gauteng Nursing Forms 2015:

The Urban Ecologies of Divided Cities Amira Osman, John Nagle, Sabyasachi Tripathi, 2023-06-12 The book discusses how division affects the fabric of cities and people's sense of identity and agency and are reflected in physical features architecture and urban planning The question of divided cities represents a complex and multistranded urban Ecology at once both social and spatial it cannot be limited to a single science or discipline such as social or spatial fields This suggests integrated and cross disciplinary understandings as well as integrated or parallel approaches and solutions Urban ecologies of division manifest in multiple forms One of their most palpable expressions is conflict with parallels around the world and often with correlations in the spatial fabric Violence in such contexts is often a surface expression of deeper socio economic or ideological differences Whether as a result of intervention by authority or by dissent between groups a divided city inevitably becomes a place of conflict in various forms and intensity eroding the joy of living and sense of collective belonging to the detriment of all In effect it erodes the collective advantage of being part of a more unified society A city exists in collections of social structures which mutually form a society A divided city implies divided social structures and in consequence a divided society The papers compiled in this book present many case studies of divided cities discussing the different causes of divisions and their effects on societies Some of the causes can be linked to conflicts wars colonialism or legislative political systems In response to the serious challenges resulting from these divisions the book aims to provide opportunities for new approaches and possibilities for new interventions and solutions making it significant to urban planners architects and policymakers

Unsettling Apologies Melanie Judge, Dee Smythe, 2022-09-29 There has recently been a global resurgence of demands for the acknowledgement of historical and contemporary wrongs as well as for apologies and reparation for harms suffered Drawing on the histories of injustice dispossession and violence in South Africa this book examines the cultural political and legal role and value of an apology It explores the multiple ways in which sorry is instituted articulated and performed and critically analyses its various forms and functions in both historical and contemporary moments Bringing together an interdisciplinary team of contributors the book's analysis offers insights that will be invaluable to global debates on the struggle for justice

The Politics of Potential Michelle Pentecost, 2024-01-12 The first one thousand days of human life or the period between conception and age two is one of the most pivotal periods of human development Optimizing nutrition during this time not only prevents childhood malnutrition but also determines future health and potential The Politics of Potential examines early life interventions in the first one thousand days of life in South Africa drawing on fieldwork from international conferences government offices health care facilities and the everyday lives of fifteen women and their families in Cape Town Michelle Pentecost explores various aspects of a politics of potential a term that underlines the first one thousand days concept and its effects on clinical care and the lives of childbearing women in South Africa Why was the First One Thousand Days project so readily adopted by South Africa and many other countries

Pentecost not only explores this question but also discusses the science of intergenerational transmissions of health disease and human capital and how this constitutes new forms of intergenerational responsibility The women who are the target of first one thousand days interventions are cast as both vulnerable and responsible for the health of future generations such that despite its history intergenerational responsibility in South Africa remains entrenched in powerfully gendered and racialized ways

African Economic Development Christopher Cramer, John Sender, Arkebe Oqubay, 2020 This book challenges conventional wisdoms about economic performance and possible policies for economic development in African countries Its starting point is the striking variation in African economic performance Unevenness and inequalities form a central fact of African economic experiences The authors highlight not only differences between countries but also variations within countries differences often organized around distinctions of gender class and ethnic identity For example neo natal mortality and school dropout have been reduced particularly for some classes of women in some areas of Africa Horticultural and agribusiness exports have grown far more rapidly in some countries than in others These variations and many others point to opportunities for changing performance reducing inequalities learning from other policy experiences and escaping the ties of structure and the legacies of a colonial past The book rejects teleological illusions and Eurocentric prejudice but it does pay close attention to the results of policy in more industrialized parts of the world Seeing the contradictions of capitalism for what they are fundamental and enduring may help policy officials protect themselves against the misleading idea that development can be expected to be a smooth linear process or that it would be were certain impediments suddenly removed The authors criticize a wide range of orthodox and heterodox economists especially for their cavalier attitude to evidence Drawing on their own decades of research and policy experience they combine careful use of available evidence from a range of African countries with political economy insights mainly derived from Kalecki Kaldor and Hirschman to make the policy case for specific types of public sector investment

Care of Older Persons Mala Kapur

Shankardass, 2024-10-23 This book explores the implications and significant ethical social economic and health challenges that an ageing world population presents It provides valuable insights on concerns related to providing organizing planning and managing care for older persons in both formal and informal settings As the number of older persons increases rapidly around the globe caring for them is a very important aspect of all ageing and aged societies While in most countries the care of older persons is provided informally by family members the changing social scene family structures and work and employment patterns are leading many nations to create provisions for formal care through institutions or paid services of caregivers This book offers perspectives on formal and informal care from countries such as Japan the Netherlands the USA India South Africa and Poland among others The essays in this book underline a rights based approach and focus on ethical social economic health and legal aspects of care as they pertain to the universal phenomena of ageing as well as the specific demographic and epidemiological realities of the selected countries They discuss concerns such as long term care provisions catering to the needs of people affected by dementia providing residential care taking the needs of family care providers into account the growing requirement for paid care workers and channelizing training of both skilled and semi skilled care providers to suit the needs of older people This volume would be of interest to scholars and those working in the fields of sociology health studies age and ageing psychology social work medical sciences nursing and public policy It will also be useful to NGO sector workers administrators as well as grassroots workers involved with the care of older persons

Rethinking and Unthinking Development Busani Mpofu, Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni, 2019-03-27 Development has remained elusive in Africa Through theoretical contributions and case studies focusing on Southern Africa's former white settler states South Africa and Zimbabwe this volume responds to the current need to rethink and unthink development in the region The authors explore how Africa can adapt Western development models suited to its political economic social and cultural circumstances while rejecting development practices and discourses based on exploitative capitalist and colonial tendencies Beyond the legacies of colonialism the volume also explores other factors impacting development including regional politics corruption poor policies on empowerment and indigenization and socio economic and cultural barriers
