No Easy Answers Sarah Tofte,Human Rights Watch (Organization),2007 No Easy Answers is the first comprehensive study of US sex offender registration community notification and residency restriction laws their public safety impact and the effect they have on former offenders and their families It concludes the laws are poorly crafted and misguided failing to protect children from sex crimes but making it nearly impossible for former offenders to rebuild their lives In many states everyone convicted of a sex crime must register and the requirement can last for life The requirements are overbroad in scope and overlong in duration As a result there are more than 600 000 registered sex offenders including individuals convicted of sexual sex between teenagers prostitution and public urination as well as those who committed their only offenses decades ago Unfettered public access to online sex offender registries exposes registrants to harassment ostracism and even violence with little evidence that this form of community notification protects anyone from sexual violence Residency restrictions prohibit former offenders from living within a designated distance anywhere from 500 to 2 500 feet from places where children gather The restrictions have the effect of banishing former offenders from entire towns forcing them to live far from home families jobs and treatment and hindering law enforcement supervision The restrictions may have no impact on the likelihood of recidivism Sex offender laws reflect public concern that children are at grave risk of sexual abuse by strangers who are repeat offenders The real risks children face are quite different statistics demonstrate that most sexual abuse of children is committed by family members or persons known and often trusted by the victim and by someone who has not previously been convicted of a sex offense The laws also reflect the widely shared but erroneous belief that sex offenders continually repeat their offenses Authoritative studies however indicate that three out of four adult offenders do not reoffend
