Gender, Asset Accumulation and Just Cities Caroline O.N. Moser, 2015-10-05 With more than half the world's population now living in urban areas urbanisation is undoubtedly one of the most important phenomena of the 21st century However despite increasing recognition of the critical relationship between economic and social development in cities gender issues are often overlooked in understanding the complexities of current urbanisation processes This book seeks to rectify this neglect Gender Asset Accumulation and Just Cities explores the contribution that a focus on the gendered nature of asset accumulation brings to the goal of achieving just more equitable cities To date neither the academic debates nor the formulated policy and practice on just cities has included a focus on gender based inequalities discriminations or opportunities From a gender perspective a separate discourse exists closely associated with gender justice particularly in relation to urban rights and democracy Neither however has addressed the implications for women's accumulation of assets and associated empowerment for transformational pathways to just cities In this book contributors specifically focus on gender and just cities from a wide range of gendered perspectives that include households housing land gender based violence transport climate and disasters

Urbanization with Chinese Characteristics: The Hukou System and Migration Kam Wing Chan, 2018-04-19 Many agree that rapid urbanization in China in the late 20th and early 21st centuries is a mega process significantly reshaping China and the global economy China's urbanization also carries a certain mystique which has long fascinated generations of scholars and journalists alike As it has turned out many of the asserted Chinese feats are mostly fancied claims or gross misinterpretations of statistics for example There does exist however an urbanization that displays rather uncommon Chinese characteristics that remain to inadequately understood Building on his three decades of careful research Professor Kam Wing Chan expertly dissects the complexity of China's hukou system migration urbanization and their interrelationships in this set of journal articles published in the last ten years These works range from seminal papers on Chinese urban definitions and statistics and broad perspective analysis of the hukou system of its first semi centennial to examinations of migration trends and geography and critical evaluations of China's 2014 urbanization blueprint and hukou reform plan This convenient assemblage contains many of Chan's recent important works Together they also form a relatively coherent set on this topic They are essential readings to anyone serious about gaining a true understanding of the prodigious urbanization in contemporary China The Routledge Handbook of Tourism in Asia C. Michael Hall, Stephen J. Page, 2016-09-13 Asia is regarded as the fastest growing area for international and domestic tourism in the world today and over the next 20 years Given the economic social and environmental importance of tourism in the region there is a need for a comprehensive and readable overview of the critical debates and controversies in tourism in the region and the major factors that are affecting tourism development both now and in the foreseeable future This Handbook provides a contemporary survey of the region and its continued growth and development as a key destination and generator of tourism which is marked by a high proportion of intra regional travel The book is divided into five sections This first section provides an introduction to the region and context to the nationally focused chapters The next three sections are then broadly based on the three UNWTO Asian regions South East Asia South and Central Asia and East and North East Asia providing readers with a valuable snapshot of tourism at various scales and from various approaches and positions The concluding section considers future prospects for tourism in Asia The handbook is interdisciplinary in coverage and is also international in scope through its authorship and content It presents a range of perspectives and understanding of the processes and forces that are shaping tourism in this fascinating and dynamic region that is one of the focal points of global tourism This is essential reading for students researchers and academics interested in tourism in the growth region of Asia now and in the future

Going Places Julie Fry, Hayden Glass, 2016-03-15 Migration and the movement of people is one of the critical issues confronting the world's nations in the twenty first century This book is about the economic contribution of migration to and from New Zealand one of the most frequently discussed aspects of the debate Can immigration in economic terms be more than a gap filler for the labour market and help as well with national economic transformation And what is the evidence on the effect of migration not just on house prices but also on jobs trade or broader economic performance Building on Sir Paul Callaghan's vision of New Zealand as a place where talent wants to live this book explores how we can attract skilled creative and entrepreneurial people born in other countries and whether our seventeenth region the more than 600 000 New Zealanders living abroad can be a greater national asset

The Ethnopoetics of Space and Transformation Stuart C. Aitken, 2016-02-17 Change is inevitable we are told A job is lost a couple falls in love children leave home an addict joins Narcotics Anonymous two nations go to war a family member's health deteriorates a baby is born a universal health care bill is voted into law Life comprises events over which we have considerable partial or little or no control The distance between the event and our daily lives suggests a quirky spatial politics Our lives move forward depending upon how events play out in concert with our reactions to them Drawing on nearly three decades of geographic projects that involve ethnographies and interviews with and stories about young people in North and South American Europe and Asia and using the innovative technique of ethnopoetry Aitken examines key life changing events to look at the interconnections between space politics change and emotions Analysing the intricate spatial complexities of these events he explores the emotions that undergird the ways change takes place and the perplexing spatial politics that almost always accompany transformations Aitken positions young people as effective agents of change without romanticizing their political involvement as fantasy and unrealistic dreaming Going further he suggests that it is the emotional palpability of youth engagement and activism that makes it so potent and productive Pulling on the spatial theories of de Certeau Deleuze

Massey Agamben Ranci re Zizek and Grosz amongst others Aitken argues that spaces are transformative to the degree that they open the political and he highlights the complexly interwoven political economic social and cultural practices that simultaneously embed and embolden people in places If we think of spaces as events and events encourage change then spaces and people become other through complex relations Taking poetry to be an emotive construction of language Aitken re visualizes contorts and arranges people s words and gestures to
