Geography Education in Japan Yoshiyasu Ida, Minori Yuda, Takashi Shimura, Shunsuke Ike, Koji Ohnishi, Hideki Oshima, 2014-12-01 In a globalized market where the emerging workforce will increasingly travel within their nations and abroad for work opportunities it is valuable to learn about the international education system and practices to assess the competition For example annual comparison of student performance is measured across math and science subjects globally What is not well known is how geography educational systems compare around the world and how student success in this subject translates to learning in other courses or employment after graduation The importance of geography in our personal professional and civic lives is transparent when one considers how finding one's way with a map understanding of world cultures or identifying spatial patterns of disease spread might influence the decisions we make Written for a global audience this is the first English publication on geography education in Japan addressing some fundamental questions What is the nature of the geography educational systems in Japan How does the focus on content and skills in Japanese schools differ from that in other countries This book includes 25 authors from diverse geography instruction and research experiences making it an authoritative publication on Japan's geography education system The contribution of this book to the larger geography educational community is sharing the key strengths concerns and future of this school subject in English where previously most publications were in Japanese It will be a useful source for researchers and teachers to understand Japan's evolving geography instruction in the past present and future The 21 chapters are organized into themes beginning with an overview of the geography education system in Japan followed by chapters that deal with regional geography and fieldwork teacher training geography education s contributions to society and a comparative study of geography education across multiple countries The book ends with a vision of geography education in the future

Confronting Challenges to the Liberal Arts Curriculum Patti McGill Peterson,2012-03-15 Comparative research on higher education in developing and transitional countries is often focused on such issues as access finance student mobility and the impact of globalization but there has been little attention to curriculum and the forces that shape it Confronting Challenges to the Liberal Arts Curriculum fills an important gap in the literature by examining the context content challenges and successes of implementing liberal arts coursework within undergraduate curriculum In order to fully understand the place of liberal education in each location chapter authors have employed a wide lens to investigate the influences upon curricular content in China India Mexico Pakistan Poland Russia South Africa and Turkey Thus this volume explores how curricular content is decided how educational programs are being structured and whether countries are viewing higher education as more than just the preparation of students for specialized knowledge By providing detailed case studies of these countries at crucial transition points in their higher education systems each chapter outlines the state of higher education system and the government s role the impact of imported models the presence of a liberal education the curricular formation and best examples of successful programs Ultimately this volume depicts how global influences have come to rest in developing countries and how market forces far removed from faculty and students have shaped the undergraduate curriculum This valuable book is of interest to scholars and researchers in Higher Education as well as practitioners working to foster student and faculty exchange and raise awareness of curricular issues

Occasional Papers in Geography ,1965 Introduction to Geography: Where in the world do Muslims Live? Susan Douglass,1995-01-01 This supplementary unit is an introduction to the geography of regions where Muslims live as majorities and a description of the circumstances in which Muslims live as minorities The focus is more regional than national so as to overstep the arbitrary modern borders that divide Muslim populations among numerous countries The unit is designed to complement typical geography surveys offered in elementary social studies curricula It is designed for grade four but may be used for grades five and six if the curriculum so requires

Study of this unit may be undertaken after the students have received an introduction to basic geography and map skills. It is probably best undertaken during the second half of the fourth grade year but since important geography concepts and skills are both introduced and reviewed here the teacher may be confident to proceed earlier. The structure of the unit is unique in that the student text is in the form of a play script whose characters a teacher and her students model a cooperative learning experience as they study regions of the world where Muslims live. The main objectives of this unit are to provide students with an overview of the places where Muslims live as majority and minority communities and to investigate selected aspects of geographic and cultural diversity within the context of Islamic unity. The unit consists of an eight lesson student text with teaching suggestions and enrichment activities. Comprehension questions, map skills and worksheets accompany the text for concept reinforcement and skill building. While the unit is designed for flexibility it is recommended that the students be exposed to the entire student text. If time does not allow extensive study of the unit materials the teacher may select only basic material from the teaching suggestions rather than covering these with depth and enrichment.
