

Geomorphology: Grade 11 Geography Summary

Geomorphology is the study of landforms, their processes, forms, and the landscapes they create. It involves understanding how natural forces shape the Earth's surface and change it over time.

1. Internal and External Earth Processes

- Internal Processes (Endogenic Forces): These originate from within the Earth and shape landforms through tectonic activities.
 - Tectonic Movements: Include earthquakes, volcanic activity, and mountain building.
 - Folding and Faulting: Caused by tectonic forces; folding creates ridges and valleys, while faulting leads to fractures and displacement of rock layers.
- External Processes (Exogenic Forces): Involve weathering, erosion, and deposition, driven by forces like water, wind, ice, and gravity.
 - Weathering: The breakdown of rocks at the Earth's surface into smaller particles, which can be physical, chemical, or biological.
 - Erosion and Deposition: Erosion transports weathered materials, while deposition occurs when these materials settle and accumulate.

2. Types of Landforms

- Mountains: Created by tectonic forces like folding, faulting, and volcanic activity.
- Plateaus: Elevated flat areas formed by uplift or lava flow.
- Plains: Large, flat areas resulting from sediment deposition over time.

Military Aspects of Geology E. P. F. Rose, J. Ehlen, U. L. Lawrence, 2019-01-31. This book complements the Geological Society's Special Publication 362 Military Aspects of Hydrogeology. Generated under the auspices of the Society's History of Geology and Engineering Groups, it contains papers from authors in the UK, USA, Germany and Austria. Substantial papers describe some innovative engineering activities influenced by geology undertaken by the armed forces of the opposing nations in World War I. These activities were reactivated and developed in World War II. Examples include trenching from World War I, tunnelling and quarrying from both wars and the use of geologists to aid German coastal fortification and Allied aerial photographic interpretation in World War II. The extensive introduction and other chapters reveal that military geology has a longer history. These chapters relate to pre twentieth century coastal fortification in the UK and the USA, conflict in the American Civil War, long term going assessments for German forces, tunnel repair after wartime route denial in Hong Kong and tunnel detection after recent insurgent improvisation in Iraq.
