The over-harvesting of traditional indigenous medicinal plants contributes to the decline of biodiversity in South Africa.

The African potato (Hypoxis hemerocallidea) is a natural resource that is widely used as a traditional medicine in South Africa. The use of the plant escalated at the onset of the HIV/AIDS pandemic because it was popularly believed that it cures AIDS. Extensive medical research has shown that it is not a cure for AIDS, although it may have other medicinal properties.

Field research, on the role of which it is harvested, was done in KwaZulu Natal. The results show that more than 40 000 roots are widely harvested every year.

QUESTION 4

"Do more than 84% of South Africans really have access to clean, safe drinking water?" Water and Environment minister Edna Moleketi said that, "The reality is that everyone in South Africa has access to water because they are alive. Without water you die. The real question is, do they have access to water that is going to be good for their health and that is a more difficult question to answer".
