Observations	Issues
1. The first observation is that the data is not balanced. The number of observations for each country varies significantly, with some countries having only one observation and others having up to 10. 2. The second observation is that the data is not stationary. The time series for each country shows a clear upward trend, which is not consistent with the assumptions of the model.	1. The first issue is that the data is not balanced. This is a problem because the model assumes that the data is balanced, meaning that the number of observations for each country is the same. 2. The second issue is that the data is not stationary. This is a problem because the model assumes that the data is stationary, meaning that the mean and variance of the data are constant over time.
