

'Is Mother Courage a heroine, a villain, neither or both? Substantiate your opinion with evidence from the play.'

With the preoccupation of one's business at heart, Brecht's short yet thought-provoking Anti-war play, Mother Courage and her Children follows a woman on her war-profiteering journey across Scandinavia. Written from an Epic Theatre perspective – Brecht, through naturalism and alienation, didactically enforces the nature of this play as one of simplistic human values in order to emphasise the importance of Courage's dedication to her business. Due to Brecht's intentional reduction of ethical values and a moral compass on Courage's behalf, it is difficult to associate her with the title of a 'heroine' or 'villain'. The perusal of her own self-interest, highlights Courage as a deeply unsympathetic character as her maternal influence is buried under her entrepreneurial façade. Furthermore it is clear that whilst Courage doesn't intentionally victimise those around her, she does not possess the true qualities of a 'heroine' – she more accurately embodies the title of an achiever.

In the first scene of this play, we notice the striving dedication of Mother Courage through the deciphered origin of her name. We learn that Courage received her name from (like most occasions) the dedication to her business. She herself states 'Courage is the name they gave me because I was scared of going broke'. Consequentially her name became an appropriate established relation to her character as 'I drove my cart right through the bombardment of Riga... hadn't any choice really'. Ultimately her name is an appropriate indication of her character; a character which precisely encapsulates the mindset of an achiever.

In addition to the historic origin of her dedicated mentality, we are provided with insight into Mother Courage's true personality within the first several pages of the play. As readers we learn that her mindset is heavily fixated upon work, and consequentially the common maternal tendencies towards her children are often disregarded or forgotten. This is recognised when she gives a very inconsiderate introduction of her children to the Recruiter and Sergeant. We learn that her children were born of three different fathers, 'a fortifications engineer, only drunk all the time' a man with 'terrible kidney trouble though he never touched a drop' and a German. This highlights that Mother Courage has no emotional connections to her partners, and once again favours her business over family and friends. Whilst this does not suggest that she is a villain in any sense, it does signal the reality of her devotion to individuals or lack thereof.
