Saltzman, Hong Shen, Janet L. Brandsma, 2008-02-02 In the early 1990s almost 200 yr after Edward Jenner demonstrated the effectiveness of the smallpox vaccine a new paradigm for vaccination emerged The conventional method of vaccination required delivery of whole pathogens or structural subunits but in this new approach DNA or genetic information was administered to elicit an immunological response Once it was observed that plasmid DNA delivered in vivo led to production of an encoded transgene 1 two ground breaking studies demonstrated that immunological responses could be generated against antigenic transgenes via plasmid DNA delivered by DNA vaccination as this approach is called 2 3 The appearance of this new vaccination strategy coincided with advances in molecular biology which provided new tools to study and manipulate the basic elements of an organism's genome and also could also be applied to the design and production of DNA vaccines DNA Vaccines is a major updated and enhancement of the first edition It reviews state of the art methods in DNA vaccine technology with chapters describing DNA vaccine design delivery systems adjuvants current applications methods of production and quality control Consistent with the approach of the Methods in Molecular Medicine series these chapters contain detailed practical procedures on the latest DNA vaccine technology The enthusiasm for DNA vaccine technology is made clear by the number of research studies published on this topic since the mid 1990s Microbiology Australia, 2003-03 Laboratory Practice, 1992 The Proteomics Protocols Handbook John M. Lowrie, Robert Whalen, 2008-02-01 The field of DNA vaccines has undergone explosive growth in the last few years As usual some historical precursors of this approach can be discerned in the scientific literature of the last decades However the present state of affairs appears to date from observations made discreetly in 1988 by Wolff Malone Felgner and colleagues which were described in a 1989 patent and published in 1990 Quite surprisingly they showed that genes carried by pure plasmid DNA and injected in a saline solution hence the epithet naked DNA could be taken up and expressed by skeletal muscle cells with a low but reproducible frequency Such a simple methodology was sure to spawn many applications In a separate and important line of experimentation Tang De Vit and Johnston announced in 1992 that it was indeed possible to obtain humoral immune responses against proteins encoded by DNA delivered to the skin by a biolistic device which has colloquially become known as the gene gun. The year 1993 saw the publication of further improvements in the methods of naked DNA delivery and above all the first demonstrations by several groups of the induction of humoral and cytotoxic immune responses to viral antigens expressed from injected plasmid DNA. In some cases protection against challenge with the pathogen was obtained. The latter result was unquestionably the touchstone of a method of vaccination worthy of the name.
