Doing Business 2015 World Bank, 2014-10-24 Twelfth in a series of annual reports comparing business regulation in 189 economies Doing Business 2015 measures regulations affecting 10 areas of everyday business activity Starting a business Dealing with construction permits Getting electricity Registering property Getting credit Protecting minority investors Paying taxes Trading across borders Enforcing contracts Resolving insolvency Labor market regulations This year's report will present data for a second city for the 11 economies with more than 100 million inhabitants These are Bangladesh Brazil China India Indonesia Japan Mexico Nigeria Pakistan the Russian Federation and the United States Three of the 10 topics covered have been expanded with further plans to expand on five additional indicators in next year's report. Additionally, the Doing Business rankings are now based on the distance to the frontier measure where each economy is evaluated based on how close their business regulations are to the best global practices. This provides a more precise view of each economy's performance and its improvement over time. The report updates all indicators as of June 1, 2014, ranks economies on their overall ease of doing business, and analyzes reforms to business regulation, identifying which economies are strengthening their business environment. The most Doing Business illustrates how reforms in business regulations are being used to analyze economic outcomes for domestic entrepreneurs and for the wider economy. It is a flagship product produced in partnership by the World Bank and IFC that garners worldwide attention on regulatory barriers to entrepreneurship. More than 60 economies have used the Doing Business indicators to shape reform agendas and monitor improvements on the ground. In addition, the Doing Business data has generated over 2,000 articles in peer-reviewed academic journals since its inception.

The Unfinished Business of Governance Alexander Styhre, 2018-10-26. The legal, regulatory, and ethical frameworks guiding governance decisions are highly politicized and subject to intense debate. This book discusses governance theory in relation to corporations, universities, and markets. Confronting the challenges of governing these three core areas, Alexander Styhre explores the connections between governance and the production of economic value, shareholder value, and economic equality. An in-depth overview of recent governance literature in management studies, economics, legal theory, and economic sociology exposes how governance theory affects securities markets, commodities, trade, university ranking, and credit scoring cases. The author examines how changes in competitive capitalism and the wider social organization of society are recursively both determined by and actively shaping the underlying governance ideals and practices. Identifying the difficulties involved in balancing freedom and control in governance policy, he highlights the key concerns confronting governments, regulatory agencies, and transnational agencies: how to ensure the efficient use of economic resources to avoid economic inequality without undermining the legitimacy of the current market-based economic model. Essential reading for academics and graduates in management and the social sciences, as well as policy makers and management consultants. The Unfinished Business of Governance gives exceptional insight into the challenges facing governance within free markets.
