Perspectives in Human Growth, Development and Maturation Parasmani Dasgupta, Roland Hauspie, 2013-03-14 One morning in 1969 out of the blue I received a letter which both distressed and astonished me It was from a Prof S R Das in Calcutta who requested me to accept for eventual analysis a mountain of anthropometric data he had accumulated as he was ill and did not expect to survive to analyse it himself The data provided the astonishment twenty two anthropometric characters recorded every six months or a year over a period of 14 years in a mixed longitudinal study of some 560 children aged six months to twenty years Most were in families with siblings also in the study and every child was measured every time by S R Das himself The archive was unique combining the personal anthropometry of R H Whitehouse in the Harpenden Growth Study and the family approach of the Fels Growth Study This was a study of which neither I nor anyone of my acquaintance had heard Even in India Prof Das work was scarcely known It turned out Das was a scholarly man quiet and unassuming absolutely committed to his Sarsuna Barisha Growth Study just the obverse of the professional showman Clearly this was not a request I could refuse although I already had in hand enough projects to occupy Siva himself Human Growth and Development Chris Beckett, Hilary Taylor, 2016-04-12 What is it that determines what sort of person we become Is a child s future personality already determined at birth or is a newborn baby like a blank sheet waiting to be written on by life Is our personality determined by anything or do we choose for ourselves who we are create ourselves out of nothing This bestselling introduction to emotional psychological intellectual and social development throughout the lifespan will help you explore these questions and many more Written for students training for careers in the helping professions including nurses social workers occupational therapists teachers and counsellors the book covers topics which are central to understanding people whether they are clients service users patients or pupils Following the shape of a human life beginning with birth and ending with death it combines theoretical concepts and reflective learning to help you develop an understanding of what makes human beings grow and change over their lives to inform your decisions and professional practice

Developmental Neuropathology of Schizophrenia Sarnoff A. Mednick, Tyrone D. Cannon, Christopher E. Barr, Jose M. LaFosse, 2012-12-06

This volume reports the proceedings of a NATO Advanced Workshop held in Castelvechio Pascoli Italy from August 28 September 1 1989 An important inspiration for this Workshop came from our studies in Helsinki and Denmark which have found that exposure to an influenza epidemic during the second trimester of fetal development increases the risk of adult schizophrenia This finding has stimulated an important new hypothesis in the study of the etiology of schizophrenia It has suggested the possibility that disturbances of brain development during gestation may contribute to the risk of adult schizophrenia We determined that it would be of value to bring together schizophrenia researchers and those doing basic studies of the development of the brain Both groups of researchers were encouraged to communicate at a level that would help other scientists to integrate their knowledge and techniques into their own discipline For this reason perhaps the papers of this volume are remarkably clear and not difficult to understand The first four chapters describe the neurochemical and structural aspects of brain development The chapter by Dziegielewska and Saunders discusses transport mechanisms and the properties of endogenous and exogenous substances that control the internal environment of the developing brain In the second chapter Nowakowski reports on his studies of the development of the hippocampus in mice genetically inbred to exhibit disruptions of neural migration
