Translation in a Postcolonial Context Maria Tymoczko, 2016-04-08 This ground breaking analysis of the cultural trajectory of England s first colony constitutes a major contribution to postcolonial studies offering a template relevant to most cultures emerging from colonialism At the same time these Irish case studies become the means of interrogating contemporary theories of translation Moving authoritatively between literary theory and linguistics philosophy and cultural studies anthropology and systems theory the author provides a model for a much needed integrated approach to translation theory and practice In the process the work of a number of important literary translators is scrutinized including such eminent and disparate figures as Standish O Grady Augusta Gregory and Thomas Kinsella The interdependence of the Irish translation movement and the work of the great 20th century writers of Ireland including Yeats and Joyce becomes clear expressed for example in the symbiotic relationship that marks their approach to Irish formalism Translation in a Postcolonial Context is essential reading for anyone interested in translation theory and practice postcolonial studies and Irish literature during the 19th and 20th centuries Less Translated Languages Albert Branchadell, Lovell Margaret West, 2005 This is the first collection of articles devoted entirely to less translated languages a term that brings together well known widely used languages such as Arabic or Chinese and long neglected minority languages with power as the key word at play It starts with some views on English the dominant language in Translation as elsewhere considers the role of translation for minority languages both a source of inequality and a means to overcome it takes a look at translation from less translated major languages and cultures and ends up with a closer look at translation into Catalan a paradigmatic case of less translated language in a final section that includes a vindication of six prominent Catalan translators Combining sound theoretical insight and accurate analysis of relevant case studies the contributors to this collection make a convincing case for a more thorough examination of less translated languages within the field of Translation Studies The Routledge Companion to World Literature Theo D'haen, David Damrosch, Djelal Kadir, 2011-09-14 In the age of globalization the category of World Literature is increasingly important to academic teaching and research The Routledge Companion to World Literature offers a comprehensive pathway into this burgeoning and popular field Separated into four key sections the volume covers the history of World Literature through significant writers and theorists from Goethe to Said Casanova and Moretti the disciplinary relationship of World Literature to areas such as philology translation globalization and diaspora studies theoretical issues in World Literature including gender politics and ethics a global perspective on the politics of World Literature The forty eight outstanding contributors to this companion offer an ideal introduction to those approaching the field for the first time or looking to further their knowledge of this extensive field Postcolonial Literature Pramod K. Nayar, 2008 Monolingualism and Linguistic Exhibitionism in Fiction Anjali Pandey, 2016-01-25 How are linguistic wars for global prominence literarily and linguistically inscribed in literature This book focuses on the increasing presence of cosmetic multilingualism in prize winning fiction making a case for an emerging transparent turn in which momentary multilingualism works in the service of long term monolingualism Paradoxes of Postcolonial Culture Sandra Ponzanesi, 2004-11-18 Explores postcolonial discourse from the standpoint of feminism and writers in minority languages The Routledge Companion to Migration Literature Gigi Adair, Rebecca Fasselt, Carly McLaughlin, 2024-07-30 The Routledge Companion to Migration Literature offers a comprehensive survey of an increasingly important field It demonstrates the influence of the age of migration on literature and showcases the role of literature in shaping socio political debates and creating knowledge about the migratory trajectories lives and experiences that have shaped the post 1989 world The contributors examine a broad range of literary texts and critical approaches that cover the spectrum between voluntary and forced migration In doing so they reflect the shift in recent years from the author centric study of migrant writing to a more inclusive conception of migration literature The book contains sections on key terms and critical approaches in the field important genres of migration literature a range of forms and trajectories of migration with a particular focus on the global South and on migration literature's relevance in social contexts outside the academy Its range of scholarly voices on literature from different geographical contexts and in different languages is central to its call for and contribution to a pluriversal turn in literary migration studies in future scholarship This Companion will be of particular interest to scholars working on contemporary migration literature and it also offers an introduction to new students and scholars from other fields Chapter 15 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Camfranglais: The Making of a New Language in Cameroonian Literature Vakunta, Peter Wuteh, 2014-07-17 This study raises awareness to the emergence of a new genre in world literature hybridized literature It rejects the assumption according to which literatures written in less commonly taught languages should be subsumed into one universally accessible global idiom Instead Vakunta challenges literary scholars and readers of literature to regard untranslatability as the key to cross cultural engagement The book's multiple approaches and innumerable sources generate complex interdisciplinary connections and provide an excellent introduction to a complex literary phenomenon alien to literati resident outside the officially bilingual multicultural and multilingual Republic of Cameroon

Translation as Reparation Paul Bandia, 2014-06-03 Translation as Reparation showcases postcolonial Africa by offering African European language literature as a case study for postcolonial translation theory and proposes a new perspective for postcolonial literary criticism informed by theories of translation The book focuses on translingualism and interculturality in African Europhone literature highlighting the role of oral culture and artistry in the writing of fiction The fictionalizing of African orature in postcolonial literature is viewed in terms of translation and an intercultural writing practice which challenge the canons of colonial linguistic propriety through the subversion of social and linguistic conventions The study opens up pathways for developing new insights into the ethics of translation as it raises issues related to the politics of language ideology identity accented writing and translation It confirms the place of translation theory in literary criticism and affirms the importance of translation in the circulation of texts particularly those from minority cultures in the global marketplace Grounded in a multidisciplinary approach the book will be of interest to students and scholars in a variety of fields including translation studies African literature and culture sociolinguistics and multilingualism postcolonial and intercultural studies

The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Migration Brigid Maher, Loredana Polezzi, Rita Wilson, 2024-09-06 The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Migration explores the practices and attitudes surrounding migration and translation aiming to redefine these two terms in light of their intersections and connections The volume adopts an interdisciplinary and transnational perspective highlighting the broad scope of migration and translation as not only linguistic and geographical phenomena but also cultural social artistic and psychological processes The nexus between migration and translation the central concern of this Handbook challenges limited conceptualisations of identity and belonging thereby also exposing the limitations of monolingual monocultural models of nationhood Through a diverse range of approaches and methodologies individual chapters investigate specific historical circumstances and illustrate the need for an intersectional approach to questions of language access and language mediation With its range of approaches and case studies the volume highlights the inherently political nature of translation and its potential to shape social and cultural inclusion emphasising the crucial role of language and translation in informing professional practices institutional policies educational approaches and community attitudes towards migration By bringing together perspectives from both researchers and creative practitioners this book makes an innovative contribution to ongoing global discussions on linguistic hospitality and diversity ideal for those pursuing postgraduate and doctoral studies in translation studies linguistics international studies and cultural studies

Kar, 2007-01-01 With contributions by researchers from India Europe North America and the Caribbean In Translation Reflections refractions transformations touches on questions of method and on topics including copyright cultural hybridity globalization identity construction and minority languages which are important for the disciplinary development of translation studies but also of interest to other fields as well most notably comparative literature cultural studies and world literature The volume provides a forum for new voices to be heard alongside those of well established scholars and for current concerns to express themselves often focusing on practices in areas of the world other than Europe or North America which have until now tended to dominate the field Acknowledging difference and celebrating it the contributions conceive of translation as a process which reconstitutes and transforms which brings renewal and growth an interaction in a new context a new reading a new writing

Reconfiguring and Appropriating Arabic, Persian, and Indic Literary Traditions in Seventeenth- and Eighteenth-Century Britain

Claire Gallien, 2025-03-20 Reconfiguring and Appropriating Arabic Persian and Indic Literary Traditions in Seventeenth and

Eighteenth Century Britain investigates the reconfigurations of literary traditions coming from Islamicate regions of the world by British orientalist Claire Gallien explores the logics of orientalist selection reconfiguration and appropriation of Islamicate literary canons and focuses on the period going from the endowment of the first chairs in Arabic at Cambridge and Oxford in 1632 and 1636 respectively to the establishment of the Asiatic Society in Calcutta in 1784 presided by Sir William Jones until 1794 Contrary to the Saidian premise of an invention of the East by the West Gallien argues that orientalist did not invent a canon but they transferred and translated texts and authors which who were already recognised as canonical across Islamicate literary cultures Given the above the question that preoccupies this book is what happens to the canon when partially re created and re purposed for European readers Organised in three main parts this book analyses first the constitution of collections of Arabic Persian and Indic manuscripts and their cataloguing in England in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries The second part investigates the variety of linguistic and literary partitioning and assemblage proposed by orientalist and discusses how their classical literary formation underpinned theories and practices of imitation translation and writing The third part examines the editing and translating of Arabic Persian and Indic literatures in seventeenth and eighteenth century England as well as in British colonial India and in particular the function of specimens and anthologies in the constitution of a corpus of Eastern literatures in English
