Chapter 2: DEMAND, SUPPLY, AND MARKET EQUILIBRIUM

Essential Concepts

1. The amount of a good or service that consumers are willing and able to purchase during a given period of time is called quantity demanded (Q_d). Six principal variables influence quantity demanded: (1) the price of the good or service (P), (2) the incomes of consumers (M), (3) the prices of related goods and services (P_r), (4) the taste patterns of consumers (A), (5) the expected price of the product in some future period (P_e), and (6) the number of consumers in the market (N). The relation between quantity demanded and the six factors that influence the quantity demanded of a good is called the general demand function and is expressed as follows:

$$Q_d = f(P, M, P_r, A, P_e, N)$$

The general demand function shows how all six variables jointly determine the quantity demanded.

2. The impact on Q_d of changing one of the six factors while the other five remain constant is summarized below.
 - (1) The quantity demanded of a good is inversely related to its own price by the law of demand. Thus, DQ_d/DP is negative.
 - (2) A good is said to be normal (inferior) when the amount consumers demand of a good varies directly (inversely) with income. Thus, DQ_d/DM is positive (negative) for normal (inferior) goods.
 - (3) Commodities that are related in consumption are said to be substitutes if the demand for one good varies directly with the price of another good so that DQ_d/DP_r is positive. Alternatively, two goods are said to be complements if the demand for one good varies inversely with the price of another good so that DQ_d/DP_r is negative.
 - (4) When buyers expect the price of a good or service to rise (fall), demand in the current period of time increases (decreases). Thus, DQ_d/DP_e is positive.
 - (5) A movement in consumer tastes toward (away from) a good, as reflected by an increase the current practices in respect of lending of all kinds that can be found in those Islamic countries and financial institutions which endeavour to follow the prohibition of riba charging of any kind of interest This will be contrasted with the impact of interest and debt financing in the contemporary non Islamic economies arguing that debt financing of businesses promotes greater rates of bankruptcy over the business cycle and that the charging of interest on loans for current consumption purposes will over time increase inequality and inequitable concentration of wealth in societies where it is practised It will also be shown how in a system without predetermined interest charges problems of exponentially exploding government debt could largely and neatly be avoided by linking bondholder rewards to levels of fiscal proceeds of states This book will be of significant interest to readers in ethics moral philosophy and political economy as well as to policymakers and thinkers grappling with issues around debt burdens public and private inequality and fairness The Cost Accountant ,1951
