Gervasoni, 2015-01-09 This edited book brings together for the first time an international collection of work focused on two important aspects of any young child s life learning mathematics and starting primary or elementary school The chapters take a variety of perspectives and integrate these two components in sometimes explicit and sometimes more subtle ways The key issues and themes explored in this book are the mathematical and other strengths that all participants in the transition to school bring to this period of a child s life the opportunities provided by transition to school for young children s mathematics learning the importance of partnerships among adults and among adults and children for effective school transitions and mathematics learning and teaching the critical impact of expectations on their mathematics learning as children start school the importance of providing children with meaningful challenging and relevant mathematical experiences throughout transition to school the entitlement of children and educators to experience assessment and instructional pedagogies that match the strengths of the learners and the teachers the importance for the aspirations of children families communities educators and educational organisations to be recognised as legitimate and key determinants of actions experiences and successes in both transition to school and mathematics learning and the belief that young children are powerful mathematics learners who can demonstrate this power as they start school In each chapter authors reflect on their work in the area of mathematics and transition to school place that work within the overall context of research in these fields predict the trajectory of this work in the future and consider the implications of the work both theoretically and practically The Geneva Papers Christophe Courbage, 2016-04-29 In January 1976 Raymond Barre the first President of

The Geneva Association and Orio Giarini its first Secretary General founded The Geneva Papers on Risk and Insurance with the main goal of supporting and encouraging research in the economics of risk and insurance At that time research in the field of insurance was still embryonic and insurance was regarded as peripheral social activity When sustained economic growth gained traction the function of insurance gradually emerged as a key contributor to economic development By integrating uncertainty into economic theory and benefiting from the progress of both financial economics and decision theory research developed further in the field of insurance economics and risk management and is now prolific The Geneva Papers on Risk and Insurance undeniably contributed to this evolution and its impact on research in insurance has largely exceeded what its two founding members could have expected This volume is a special collection of papers celebrating 40 Years of The Geneva Papers on Risk and Insurance The collection looks back at the storied history of The Geneva Papers on

Risk and Insurance and features papers from some of the esteemed authors who have contributed to the journal in its lifetime This collection of papers highlights just a few of the many themes addressed in the papers published by the journal since it was created Nevertheless the selection exemplifies the richness and variety of topics the field of insurance covers

Diversity in Mathematics Education Alan Bishop, Hazel Tan, Tasos N Barkatsas, 2014-09-20 This book presents a research focus on diversity and inclusivity in mathematics education The challenge of diversity largely in terms of student profiles or contextual features is endemic in mathematics education and is often argued to require differentiation as a response Typically different curricula text materials task structures or pedagogies are favoured responses but huge differences in achievement still result If we in mathematics education seek to challenge that status quo more research must be focussed not just on diversity but also on the inclusivity of practices in mathematics education The book is written by a group of experienced collaborating researchers who share this focus It is written for researchers research students teachers and in service professionals who recognise both the challenges but also the opportunities of creating and evaluating new inclusive approaches to curriculum and pedagogy ones that take for granted the positive values of diversity Several chapters report new research in this direction The authors are part of or have visited with the mathematics education staff of the Faculty of Education at Monash University in Melbourne Australia The chapters all focus on the ideas of development in both research and practice recognising that the current need is for new inclusive approaches The studies presented are set in different contexts including Australia China the United States and Singapore
