

The general effect which I received from the "The Great Gatsby" was bitterness. All along Tom showed nothing but harsh feelings for Gatsby. He was determined to expose the true character that Gatsby really was by exposing the truth behind the ways he made his money and became as rich as he was. Daisy herself felt bitterness toward Tom even though throughout the movie she seemed unaffected by the fact that Tom was having an affair with Myrtle.

This effect of bitterness was well produced through the characterization, acting and the ending. Daisy seemed to be the type of character who didn't really express all her feelings of bitterness toward Tom. Instead she would bottle up these feelings. She knew all along that Tom was seeing someone though she would not let out her feelings, she would just continue to live her life as though this affair was non-existent. Tom being the character that he was, was the complete opposite of Daisy. After learning from Daisy that she never really loved him he would constantly try to "put down" Gatsby and try to expose him as the sham that he really was. He made fun of the way that Gatsby called him and Nick "old sport" and found out of the illegal ways in which he made his money and exposed it to him in front of others.

The acting of Daisy was especially great because for the most part, (especially in the beginning where Nick learns of Tom's affair at Daisy's home) you are able to see how the affair deeply hurts Daisy and that she is angered even though she does not say a word about it at the dinner table. Though undoubtedly the greatest demonstration of bitterness in the movie was shown through Tom. Wilson only found out that Gatsby was in the car that killed Myrtle through Tom. This ultimately led Wilson to kill Gatsby along

A Piagetian Reading of "The Great Gatsby": Gatsby's Character and Augmented Reality Marie H., 2014-10-14 Seminar paper from the year 2014 in the subject American Studies Literature grade 1.7 RWTH Aachen University Institut für Anglistik Amerikanistik und Romanistik language English abstract The paper at hand will focus especially on Piaget's second development stage, the preoperational stage, which covers children around the age of three. Subsequently, the character of Jay Gatsby will be analyzed. Does Gatsby act like a three-year-old boy, and in how far does this affect his reality? One question answered in the conclusion is if it is possible to analyze Gatsby only considering his egocentrism and if Piaget is the right theorist to use as a base. In how far can Gatsby be reduced to only one of his attributes? The most important literature that will be used is the novel The Great Gatsby by Fitzgerald, as well as three publications written by Piaget: Meine Theorie der Geistigen Entwicklung, eng My Theory of Mental Development, Possibility and Necessity Vol 1: the Role of Possibility in Cognitive Development, and Theorien und Methoden der Modernen Erziehung, eng Theories and Methods of Modern Education. Those three publications are used because they are primary literature as well as relevant to the topic since they cover almost everything needed for this term paper. This literature and such more will first give a definition of what the preoperational stage includes, especially focusing on the egocentrism, which will then build the base for the character analysis. By analyzing Gatsby's character, I want to ascertain his obvious egocentrism. All in all, I believe that Piaget is a start to analyze Gatsby's psyche. He is not the usual theorist used for character analysis since he focused his research on children. Yet, I believe Piaget is the right choice for this topic. I chose him as the foundation of the paper to point out Gatsby's inner child.
