Archaeologist's Manual for Conservation Bradley A. Rodgers,2007-05-08 This is a Foreword by an archaeologist not a conservator but as Brad Rodgers says Conservation has been steadily pulled from archaeology by the forces of specialization p 3 and he wants to remedy that situation through this manual He sees this work as a call to action for the non professional conservator permitting curators conservators and archaeologists to identify artifacts that need professional attention and allow these professionals to stabilize most artifacts in their own laboratories with minimal intervention using simple non toxic procedures p 5 It is the mission of Brad's manual to bring conservation back into archaeology p 6 The degree of success of that goal depends on the degree to which archaeologists pay attention to and put to use what Brad has to say because as he says The conservationist archaeologist is responsible to make preparation for an artifact's care even before it is excavated and after its storage into the foreseeable future a tremendous responsibility p 10 The manual is a combination of highly technical as well as common sense methods of conserving wood iron and other metals ceramics glass and stone organics and composites a far better guide to artifact conservation than was available to me when I first faced that archaeological challenge at colonial Brunswick Town North Carolina in 1958 a challenge still being faced by archaeologists today The stage of conservation in 1958 is in dramatic contrast to the procedures Brad describes in this manual conservation has indeed made great progress
For instance a common procedure then was to heat the artifacts red hot in a furnace a method that made me cringe Ad Hoc Networks Shiwen Mao, Scott Midkiff, Hua Zhu, 2010-01-23 Ad hoc networks refer to the wireless networking paradigm that covers a variety of network forms for specific purposes such as mobile ad hoc networks sensor networks vehicular networks underwater networks underground networks personal area networks and home networks The various forms of ad hoc networks promise a broad scope of applications in civilian commercial and military areas which have led to significant new research problems and challenges and have attracted great efforts from academia industry and government This unique networking paradigm necessitates re examination of many established wireless networking concepts and protocols and calls for developing new fundamental understanding of problems such as interference mobility connectivity capacity and security among others While it is essential to advance theoretical research on fundamentals and practical research on efficient algorithms and protocols it is also critical to develop useful applications experimental prototypes and real world deployments to achieve a practical impact on our society for the success of this networking paradigm The annual International Conference on Ad Hoc Networks AdHocNets is a new event that aims at providing a forum to bring together researchers from academia as well as practitioners from industry and government to meet and exchange ideas and recent research work on all aspects of ad hoc networks As the first edition of this event AdHocNets 2009 was successfully held in Niagara Falls Ontario Canada during September 22 25 2009 Listening on the Short Waves, 1945 to Today Jerome S. Berg,2008-10-01 This book presents the histories of the major North American shortwave clubs and reviews the professional and listener generated shortwave literature of the era It also covers the DX programs and other listening fare to which shortwave listeners were most attracted and the QSL cards they sought as confirmation of their reception Provided by publisher Interface Age ,1978 73 Amateur Radio ,1988 Paperbound Books in Print ,1991 Emergency Medical Services ,2001
