Humanitarian NGOs, (In)Security and Identity Andrea Schneiker, 2016-03-09. Increasingly, humanitarian NGOs operate in the context of armed conflicts where the security risks are higher than in contexts of natural disaster. Working in Afghanistan, Somalia, Sudan, South Sudan, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka is particularly dangerous for humanitarians. This existential threat affects the physical existence of aid workers and the implementation of humanitarian programs and the core beliefs of humanitarians and the underlying principles of humanitarian action. For NGOs, it is difficult to accept that they are attacked despite their good intentions, sometimes even by the very communities they seek to help. For these reasons, humanitarian NGOs have to change their approaches to security by not only adapting their policies, procedures, and structures to the changing environment but also reviewing the underlying principles of their work. This book contributes to debates by demonstrating how issues of insecurity affect humanitarian NGOs and the humanitarian identity, situating the structural changes within the humanitarian NGO community in the context of conflict aid governance and explaining how non-state actors establish their own governance structures independent from state-sponsored solutions and contribute to the emerging literature on the redefinition of the concept of epistemic communities.
