Literacy and Learning in the Content Areas Sharon Kane, 2017-07-05 The 3rd Edition of Literacy Learning in the Content Areas helps readers build the knowledge, motivation, tools, and confidence they need as they integrate literacy into their middle and high school content area classrooms. Its unique approach to teaching content area literacy actively engages preservice and practicing teachers in reading and writing and the very activities that they will use to teach literacy to their own students in middle and high school classrooms. Rather than passively learning about strategies for incorporating content area literacy activities, readers get hands-on experience in such techniques as mapping, webbing, anticipation guides, booktalks, class websites, and journal writing and reflection. Readers also learn how to integrate children's and young adult literature, primary sources, biographies, essays, poetry, and online content communities and websites into their classrooms. Each chapter offers concrete teaching examples and practical suggestions to help make literacy relevant to students' content area learning. Author Sharon Kane demonstrates how relevant reading, writing, speaking, listening, and visual learning activities can improve learning in content area subjects and at the same time help readers meet national content knowledge standards and benchmarks.

Learning Journals in the K-8 Classroom Marcia S. Popp, 2012-11-12 Learning Journals in the K-8 Classroom is the first comprehensive presentation of how to use academic journals effectively for elementary level instruction. The text outlines the theoretical foundations for using learning journals and provides step-by-step suggestions for implementing them in every content area and at all levels of elementary instruction. Learning journals provide resources and support for reading aloud, independent reading, mini-lessons, cooperative study, individual research workshops, and the portfolio system. The type of interactive writing students do in learning journals helps them explore complex ideas in the content areas using their own strengths of analysis and response; the journals then become resources for future learning, group discussions, individual conferences, learning assessment reports, and progress. Four introductory chapters show teachers how to create their own journals, introduce journals to students, integrate them with cooperative study, and use them for assessment. Additional chapters focus on the individual curriculum areas of literature, writing, mathematics, science, and social studies. The text includes sample entries from student journals at all grade levels and in every content area and appendices of annotated resources to support journaling and interviews with teachers who use journals in their classrooms.

Building Content Literacy Roberta L. Sejnost, Sharon M. Thiese, 2010-02-26 Secondary teachers will find that this superb resource informs the teaching and learning of their students and provides many research-based strategies to enhance reading comprehension and written language in every area. Johnneen Griffin, Director of Secondary Pupil Services, Olentangy Local Schools, Lewis Center, OH; Sejnost and Thiese address the national literacy crisis with a practical guidebook that meets the needs of adolescent learners by focusing on the literacy skills needed for the 21st century. The strategies engage learners and create independence in content area reading. Rusti Russow, Director of Teaching and Learning, Kankakee School District, IL, increases adolescent learners' success in all content areas. Responding to the challenges associated with teaching middle and high school students, this resource offers specific strategies teachers may use to incorporate reading writing and critical thinking throughout content instruction to increase learning With step by step instructions a wealth of examples and numerous student reproducibles the book presents an approach that secondary teachers can implement across all content areas Roberta L Sejnost and Sharon M Thiese focus on research based practices that increase comprehension and learning while meeting standards including Techniques that foster the acquisition and retention of specialized and technical content vocabulary Processes to help students better comprehend narrative and expository texts Approaches to help students use writing and speaking to process their new knowledge and make it their own Techniques for promoting the literacies needed to effectively use various media sources Methods for scaffolding instruction for students with special needs Building Content Literacy is an ideal resource for delivering developmentally appropriate learning experiences and strengthening adolescent s academic achievement in every content area
