Introduction

Click "Introduction" in the upper right corner to read the introduction to the lab. Click the "Tutorial" button and answer the three questions below.

1. What is pressure and the relationship of age and gender to blood pressure?

As age increases, blood vessel elasticity decreases and increases the resistance to blood flow, causing a subsequent increase in blood pressure.

2. What does knowledge about the body and the circulatory system enable us to predict about how the average blood pressure for a group of people would be affected by manipulating the age and gender of the group members?

If we increase a group's age, the blood pressure of the group will increase. If we add age and gender, the blood pressure will increase.

3. How will you use the knowledge you have gained about blood pressure? What steps will you follow? What research will you do?

Research the blood pressure data in the table provided and compare the numbers and gender and age groups to find the hypothesis.
