The Science Delusion Curtis White, 2013-05-28 One of our most brilliant social critics author of the bestselling The Middle Mind presents a scathing critique of the delusions of science alongside a rousing defense of the tradition of Romanticism and the big questions With the rise of religion critics such as Richard Dawkins and of pseudo science advocates such as Malcolm Gladwell and Jonah Lehrer you re likely to become a subject of ridicule if you wonder Why is there something instead of nothing or What is our purpose on earth Instead at universities around the world and in the general cultural milieu we re all being taught that science can resolve all questions without the help of philosophy politics or the humanities In short the rich philosophical debates of the 19th century have been nearly totally abandoned argues critic Curtis White An atheist himself White nonetheless calls this new turn scientism and fears what it will do to our culture if allowed to flourish without challenge In fact in scientism White sees a new religion with many unexamined assumptions In this brilliant multi part critique he aims at a TED talk by a distinguished neuroscientist in which we are told that human thought is merely the product of our connectome a map of neural connections in the brain that is yet to be fully understood He whips a widely respected physicist who argues that our new understanding of the origins of the universe obviates any philosophical inquiry and ends with a learned defense of the tradition of Romanticism which White believes our technology and science obsessed world desperately needs to rediscover It s the only way he argues that we can see our world clearly and change it

Displaying Death and Animating Life Jane C. Desmond, 2016-08-18 The number of ways in which humans interact with animals is almost incalculable From beloved household pets to the steak on our dinner tables the fur in our closets to the Babar books on our shelves taxidermy exhibits to local zoos humans have complex deep and dependent relationships with the animals in our ecosystems In Displaying Death and Animating Life Jane C Desmond puts those human animal relationships under a multidisciplinary lens focusing on the less obvious and revealing the individualities and subjectivities of the real animals in our everyday lives Desmond a pioneer in the field of animal studies builds the book on a number of case studies She conducts research on site at major museums taxidermy conventions pet cemeteries and even at a professional conference for writers of obituaries She goes behind the scenes at zoos wildlife clinics and meetings of pet cemetery professionals We journey with her as she meets Kanzi the bonobo artist and a host of other animal artists all of whom are preparing their artwork for auction Throughout Desmond moves from a consideration of the visual display of unindividuated animals to mourning for known animals and finally to the marketing of artwork by individual animals The first book in the new Animal Lives series Displaying Death and Animating Life is a landmark study bridging disciplines and reaching across divisions from the humanities and social sciences to chart new territories of investigation
