Great Expectations Annotated Illustrated:

Great Expectations Charles Dickens, 2014-02-26 Dickens's tenth novel was published in 1861 nine years before his death. As in David Copperfield, the hero tells his own story from boyhood. Yet in several essential points Great Expectations is markedly different from David Copperfield and from Dickens's other novels. Owing to the simplicity of the plot and to the small number of characters, it possesses greater unity of design. These characters, each drawn with marvelous distinctness of outline, are subordinated throughout to the central personage Pip, whose great expectations form the pivot of the narrative. But the element that most clearly distinguishes this novel from the others is the subtle study of the development of character through the influence of environment and circumstance. In the career of Pip, a more careful and natural presentation of personality is made than is usual with Dickens. He is a village boy who longs to be a gentleman. His dreams of wealth and opportunity suddenly come true. He is supplied with money and sent to London to be educated and to prepare for his new station in life. Later he discovers that his unknown benefactor is a convict to whom he had once rendered a service. The convict, returning against the law to England, is recaptured and dies in prison, his fortune being forfeited to the Crown. Pip's great expectations vanish into thin air. Great Expectations is a delightful novel, rich in humor and free from false pathos. The character of Joe Gargery, simple, tender, quaintly humorous, would alone give imperishable value to the book. Great Great Expectations follows the young protagonist Pip, a lower-class orphan who lives with his sister and her husband in Kent. At the beginning of the novel, Pip is visiting his parents' graves when a mysterious stranger, clearly an escaped prisoner, grabs ahold of him and makes several demands of the young boy. Following these demands, Pip steals food and a file; the prisoner requests but the man is caught by authorities anyway. This deed serves as the inciting incident of the novel, as it is later revealed in the text that this escaped prisoner, Magwitch, is Pip's anonymous benefactor. As a young boy, Pip is taken by his kindly brother-in-law, Joe, on a visit to Satis House, the abode of the eccentric spinster Miss Havisham. Pip becomes enamored with Estella, Miss Havisham's young ward. Estella is beautiful yet cruel, and Pip makes it his life's mission to become a wealthy gentleman worthy of being her husband.
