An Essay Concerning Humane Understanding Volume 2 John Locke, 2015-11-20

1 An Inquiry into the Understanding pleasant and useful Since it is the UNDERSTANDING that sets man above the rest of sensible beings and gives him all the advantage and dominion which he has over them it is certainly a subject even for its nobleness worth our labour to inquire into The understanding like the eye whilst it makes us see and perceive all other things takes no notice of itself and it requires and art and pains to set it at a distance and make it its own object But whatever be the difficulties that lie in the way of this inquiry whatever it be that keeps us so much in the dark to ourselves sure I am that all the light we can let in upon our minds all the acquaintance we can make with our own understandings will not only be very pleasant but bring us great advantage in directing our thoughts in the search of other things

2 Design This therefore being my purpose to inquire into the original certainty and extent of HUMAN KNOWLEDGE together with the grounds and degrees of BELIEF OPINION and ASSENT I shall not at present meddle with the physical consideration of the mind or trouble myself to examine wherein its essence consists or by what motions of our spirits or alterations of our bodies we come to have any SENSATION by our organs or any IDEAS in our understandings and whether those ideas do in their formation any or all of them depend on matter or not These are speculations which however curious and entertaining I shall decline as lying out of my way in the design I am now upon It shall suffice to my present purpose to consider the discerning faculties of a man as they are employed about the objects which they have to do with And I shall imagine I have not wholly misemployed myself in the thoughts I shall have on this occasion if in this historical plain method I can give any account of the ways whereby our understandings come to attain those notions of things we have and can set down any measures of the certainty of our knowledge or the grounds of those persuasions which are to be found amongst men so various different and wholly contradictory and yet asserted somewhere or other with such assurance and confidence that he that shall take a view of the opinions of mankind observe their opposition and at the same time consider the fondness and devotion wherewith they are embraced the resolution and eagerness

wherewith they are maintained may perhaps have reason to suspect that either there is no such thing as truth at all or that mankind hath no sufficient means to attain a certain knowledge of it 3 Method It is therefore worth while to search out the bounds between opinion and knowledge and examine by what measures in things whereof we have no certain knowledge we ought to regulate our assent and moderate our persuasion In order whereunto I shall pursue this following method First I shall inquire into the original of those ideas notions or whatever else you please to call them which a man observes and is conscious to himself he has in his mind and the ways whereby the understanding comes to be furnished with them
