Martens-Edwards, 2014-03-01 With the fall of the regimes in Tunisia and Egypt the term Facebook Revolution was coined depicting the world's most popular social media platform as a condition sine qua non for the Arab revolutions Moving on from the extreme positions of cyber utopians and pessimists this study identifies and analyses mechanisms of use and potential intermediary effects of social media in connection with other driving factors of mass demonstrations that led to the fall of the Mubarak regime in early 2011 Semi structured focus interviews were carried out with social media activists in Cairo between November 20th and 24th 2011 The qualitative content analysis of eight interviews allowed for the identification of relevant categories and sub categories as well as possible connections between them Additionally a thorough analysis of the Egyptian socio economic political and media system in the years leading up to the revolution provides the basis for valuable and contextual conclusions Among the key findings is the accelerating effect of social media in mobilizing the Egyptian population to take part in mass demonstrations Whereas the organizational function is limited to online network effects rather than facilitating the coordination of protesters on the ground a significant impact of social media on the perception of a collective identity and threshold levels relevant for individual protest behavior was identified through this research Moreover the findings implicate a mutual dependency between new social media and traditional mass media deep questions about who and what we are Featuring classic authors and brand new work we are confronted with a fundamental metaphysical topic within every story Are we souls brains animals or patterns of information Are the Buddhists right to say that the self is an illusion Do we survive under conditions such as total amnesia or the destruction of the body Each story is accompanied by an introductory overview and narrative explaining the ideas and the principal philosophical arguments behind it Alongside deeper appreciation of stories by authors such as Roald Dahl John Varly J R Dawson and Ursula Le Guin we are seamlessly introduced to the philosophy of personal identity through memorable fiction The Barbie Murders depicts a society in which each member conforms to a strict template for their physical and mental characteristics Marley and Marley follows a middle aged woman who takes part in a government program to travel back in time to take care of her orphaned younger self Edward the Conqueror illustrates the concept of the soul as an essence of a person that persists while other things about them may change Thought provoking and highly entertaining this one of a kind anthology challenges traditional beliefs around how we see ourselves and allows us to understand what it means to be human
